

WIENNA TELLS WHY CUSTOMS UNION HAD TO BE GIVEN UP

Schober at Geneva Says Plan Contemplated 'One Big European Market' and So Required Co-Operation—Curtius Agrees.

GERMANY, AUSTRIA UNITED IN POLICY

But They Formally Renounce Program—Committee Reports There Is No Single Way Out of Depression.

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Sept. 3.—Germany and Austria, through their foreign ministers at the Pan-European commission, renounced today the customs union they proposed several months ago.

Dr. Johann N. Schober, for Austria, said his government had arranged with Germany to pursue the matter no further, and Dr. Julius Curtius of Germany concurred. This action anticipated a decision by the World Court, to which a customs union plan was referred for an opinion.

Schober began by referring to the general subject of customs unions, and said it was possible that a better European economy and saving the way for "one big European market." Austria, he said, entered into negotiations with Germany for the establishment of a customs union with this in mind, but with a realization that such a union could succeed only if the other nations of Europe co-operated.

"From the events of the past few months," he said, "we have come to see that difficulties might arise. Therefore, the Federal Government declared it had resolved to pursue the customs union project no further."

Schober expressed hope that Austria's action would contribute to a general restoration of confidence in Europe.

"It has been evident from the beginning," he continued, "that there was a prospect of realizing this scheme only under the condition that all other states would be ready to participate. We know a course of the evolution of this situation. With regard to this evolution, we have come to an understanding with Germany as to the attitude to be pursued."

Decision Announced.
Speakers for France, Italy and Czechoslovakia cordially welcomed the decision of Austria and Germany. Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, described it as a renunciation of distinct improvement in the world's economic conditions. Curtius expressed the conviction that the realization of the imperative necessity for European cooperation had increased appreciably in the last few months, and asserted that closer economic co-operation between nations was the only way of improving economic conditions in Europe.

"I hope," said Schober, after he had announced that Austria would abandon the customs union, "that this declaration will contribute to the clearing of the atmosphere so that the governments may co-operate constructively. The declaration which I have just made would serve to restore reciprocal confidence. The important thing is that collaboration should in fact take place and that practical results should be attained."

German Ace, Stunt Flyer At Air Races, Aids Judge He Shot Down During War

Major Udet Tells of Fight With American,
So Latter Can Get Disability Compensation From Government.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
291-205 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—How mutual respect has overcome wartime hatred is shown by a letter written by Maj. Ernst Udet, famous German ace, to help Judge Walter B. Wanamaker, Akron, O., get disability compensation. Judge Wanamaker, formerly an Army aviator, was shot down back of the German lines by Udet in July, 1918. Udet is now in Cleveland, daily thrilling spectators at the National Air Races with his stunt flying.

Wanamaker is at the Veterans' Bureau Diagnostic Hospital in Hines, Ill., where he is under observation to determine whether his injuries, said to have been caused by his fight with Udet and aggravated by his detention in a German prison camp, entitle him to Government compensation.

When he learned that the War Department files contained no record of his air fight with Udet, probably because he crashed behind the German lines, Wanamaker wrote to the German ace requesting verification of the incident and received the following letter from his former enemy:

"My Dear Wanamaker:
"I thank you for your letter and express my deepest regret that I am responsible for the injury from which you are now suffering. As I see it, conditions are the same in the U. S. A. as in other lands formerly engaged in the war. They are not specially glad to remember wounded soldiers when they are no longer needed. I shall go to the American Attaché in Germany for Air. Mr. Reinbergh, and show the original report of the shooting down of your plane, No. 6347, from which it plainly follows:

"That you were forced to a landing by me on July 2, 1918. I attempted to land your plane on the field heading and the plane was completely destroyed.

"To my certain knowledge you were seriously injured in the fall and it was with great difficulty that you were drawn from the machine. You received a fracture of the leg. You were transferred to the rear on a stretcher and photographed by me without your being aware of it.

"Your plane was a Nieuport type and had No. 6347 on the side. I shall ask Maj. Reinbergh to certify that I showed the report of the shooting down of your plane, and believe that this should be sufficient for further steps.

"In my war memoirs I have found a page which treats of your being shot down. This document is of further importance to you because a newspaper article is added from which it is clear you were injured.

"It is mighty hard, my dear Wanamaker, for me to separate this page, but it is only natural that I am glad to place at your disposal this piece of history to assist you.

"It is possible, my dear Wanamaker, that I shall come to the U. S. A. in 1931. I should be happy to be permitted to shake your hand. I thank you for your picture, and so kindly send me and reply to it with a picture of myself.

The newspaper article inclosed with the letter said that Wanamaker was the thirty-ninth victim of the German ace.

Wanamaker was the first American Udet had shot down and he was commended for his work. On the same day, Udet shot down his fortieth allied plane.

German War Flyer the Sensation at Cleveland Races.
By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 3.—Maj. Ernst Udet of Germany has not only captured the admiration of thousands of spectators at the National Air Races with his unprecedented stunts, but has come close to stealing the show.

On the ground Maj. Udet, short and stocky and neatly dressed, looks and acts like any conservative business man. But in the air he makes the crowd gasp as he slips his scarlet ship, which he himself designed, through stunts that no one but a champion daredevil would attempt.

Udet performs loops, rolls and banks so close to the ground that the least mistake in judgment or air bump would send him crashing in an instant. His most spectacular stunt is to take off and fly across the field with one wing almost touching the ground. He closes his exhibition by stopping his motor at a thousand feet, making three loops and landing with a dead stick—an idle propeller.

PERSONAL AGENT OF MAYOR WALKER MISSING WITNESS

Seabury Thinks It Extraordinary He Should Disappear
Just When Wanted.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Russell T. Sherwood, accountant and personal agent of Mayor James J. Walker, was today placed definitely in the category of missing witnesses wanted by the Hofstadter legislative committee by Samuel Seabury, chief counsel to the committee.

Seabury said he had verified reports that Sherwood had disappeared from the Hotel Traymore in Atlantic City, where he went several weeks ago after a subpoena had been issued for him.

Seabury issued the following statement: "It seems to me an extraordinary circumstance, that the personal agent of the present Mayor of the city, when told that a subpoena had been issued for his attendance before the Legislative Committee, as Russell T. Sherwood was told, should flee from the jurisdiction of the State. When publication appeared in the press of Sunday last that efforts would be made to secure his attendance before the committee, he left his hotel at Atlantic City, leaving no address. It is difficult for me to reconcile this action with the repeated assurances that have been given that those close to the Mayor have nothing to hide."

COMMERCE CHAMBER GROUP DRAFTING REPORT ON JOBS

Another Committee Being Organized by Chicago Bankers to Increase Employment.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—A committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce met here today to draft a report on unemployment and stabilization of work. The committee is headed by Henry L. Harriman, president of the chamber's first president, Harry A. Wheeler, a Chicago banker, is organizing a committee under President Hoover's relief organization to find means of increasing jobs.

Wheeler said two new appeals yesterday by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director.

The relief organization announced a back-to-school movement to be carried on by churches, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish organizations have pledged co-operation.

The view is that young men should stay in school while the high rate of unemployment continues.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 3.—Gov. R. B. Sterling said today that tabulation of replies from Texas Senators showed a majority of them opposed any plan to control cotton acreage by law and he believed it would be futile to call a special session of the Legislature to consider cotton acreage reduction.

QUESTIONS INVESTMENT TRUSTS

New York Attorney-General Begins Investigation.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Attorney-General John J. Bennett Jr. has started an investigation of the 300 management investment trusts doing business in New York.

The investigation began with a comprehensive questionnaire with complete reports by Sept. 10, is expected to disclose any fraudulent practices.

GRANADA BUILDING BONDHOLDERS GET $11 ON $100 BOND

Title to Property Goes to Royal Neighbors of America, Which Held $275,- 000 of Original Issue.

$50,000 BID ONLY
ONE AT FORECLOSURE

Structure Erected at Announced Cost of $575,- 000—Second Mortgage Is Wiped Out.

Individual investors who bought $100,000 of "first mortgage gold bonds" five years ago to finance construction of the Granada Theater and Apartment Building, at the northeast corner of Gravois and Ellenwood avenues, are receiving $11.89 for each $100 bond as a result of foreclosure.

Title to the property has passed into the hands of the Royal Neighbors of America, a women's insurance lodge with headquarters at Rock Island, Ill., which had bought $275,000 of the original $375,000 bond issue.

The insurance society's bid of $50,000 was the only offer made at the foreclosure sale. It was required to put up only about $16,000 in cash, its $34,000 in first mortgage bonds being accepted for the rest of the purchase price. Other bondholders are being paid off with the cash paid by the Royal Neighbors after expenses have been deducted.

About $23,000 in mechanics' liens have been filed against the building.

Second Mortgage Wiped Out.
In addition to the first mortgage bonds, sold through Garard Investment Trust Co., a Chicago firm now in receivership, there was a second mortgage of $100,000 against which bonds were sold. The second mortgage was wiped out in foreclosure, and holders of these bonds have, of course, nothing to show for their investment except experience.

Mrs. Mary Arnholt, supreme oracle of the Royal Neighbors of America, declined to discuss the investment of that organization in Granada bonds when reached by telephone at Rock Island. She referred inquiries to Mrs. Irma Bartlett, supreme recorder, who had nothing to say.

The building, three stories high, of yellow brick trimmed with terra cotta, contains, besides the theater, 12 apartments of two and three rooms, and six shops on Gravois avenue.

The theater for several years was the leader of second-run houses operated by the Skouras interests. Stage shows were presented there until the building was sold.

Disputes During Building.
The promotion got under way in July, 1925, when Reuben Levine, a Chicago architect, acquired the vacant site and organized the St. Louis Gravois Business Block and Theater Building Corporation. He announced plans for a structure which would cost $575,000. Construction, in charge of the Gohman-Levine Co. of Chicago, was halted several times by building inspectors in a dispute over quality of materials.

The completed, was assessed for tax purposes by the city at $375,000, of which $27,440 is for ground.

The first mortgage bonds, bearing 6 1/2 per cent interest, were dated Oct. 15, 1925, and were to be retired serially, beginning in 1927 until 1935, when all then outstanding would mature. The second mortgage bonds, issued later, were also sold through the Garard Co.

Described as "Gold Bonds."
The first mortgage bonds were described as "gold bonds," not because any gold reserve existed to protect their value, as some may have supposed, but because they contained the provision that the bondholder could require payment of the principal in gold specie.

As has been the case in other St. Louis buildings similarly financed, the bonds were widely sold, very few of them to St. Louis clients of the financing house.

The Garard Co. was in receivership a year ago when interest payments on the bonds were defaulted and no attempt was made to organize a bondholders' protective committee. The property was sold at foreclosure July 9, 1930.

BERLIN BOERSE OPENS; VALUES MELT AWAY

Stocks Borne Down in Avalanche of Sales—Some Gilt-Edge Issues Hard Hit.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Sept. 3.—Values melted away during the early stages of trading today as the Boerse reopened for the first time since July 11. Few issues were spared and some of the gilt-edged stocks were particularly hard hit.

I. G. Farben, generally regarded as one of the keystones of German industry, was beaten down under an avalanche of sales from 123 to 93, at which point the Farben bank stepped into the breach to peg the price.

The only section of the market which appeared to have escaped the early attack was foreign securities.

Among the domestic industrial, the huge mining combination, slumped from 142 to 115 as order after order to sell hit the market.

To prevent further collapse the Boerse committee ruled that only 10 per cent of industrial offerings be regarded as for sale, technically tying up part of the sales orders.

Bank stocks generally were lower and even the Reichsbank was off 2 1/2 per cent from the previous official close.

A. E. G., the German General Electric, was hammered down from 83 1/2 to 59. Other industrials were off 10 to 30 points. Bonds and preferred issues were not off so badly.

At 2 p. m. the session ended, but three-quarters of an hour later the official closing prices were still unavailable, for the rush of selling orders had flooded the Price Determining Committee.

American movie cameras set up on the roofs of adjoining buildings ground out reels of film as the Boerse reopened.

NORMAN THOMAS ARRESTED
IN PICKET LINE AT MILL
Socialist Candidate for Presidency and 48 Others Held at Paterson, N. J.

By the Associated Press.
PATTERSON, N. J., Sept. 3.—Norman Thomas of New York, Socialist candidate for the presidency at the last election, was arrested today with 47 others as a picket at the Hand Silk Mill.

Arrested with Thomas were Spear Kiechel, social secretary of the Episcopal Diocese of Long Island; A. J. Muste, head of a labor college, and the Rev. Bradford Young, Church of the Holy Trinity, New York.

Strikers from other mills had gathered at the mill, for the second time defying the picket ruling recently handed down by Judge Freeman, who decreed that a mill not on strike could not be picketed.

Thomas was summoned by the labor leaders along with the clergyman to accompany the strikers. Police had little difficulty arresting the group.

$1,900,000 AWARD TO KERENS IS REVERSED

U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Sets Aside Decision Giving Son, Vincent, His Share of His Father's Estate.

TWO OF HIS SISTERS OPPOSED HIS CLAIM

Latest Ruling Declares That Claimant Failed to Fulfill the Five-Year Good Conduct Requirement of Will.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in a decision today, disapproved the action of the St. Louis Union Trust Co. in seeking to terminate the trust under which it holds Vincent Kerens' $1,900,000 share of the estate of his father, the late Richard C. Kerens, and to turn over the property to him.

The Appellate Court, in a decision written by Presiding Judge Stone, reversed the decision of District Judge Faris, who one year ago approved the termination of the trust. It disputed the conclusion, reached by the trust company and approved by Judge Faris, that Vincent Kerens had complied with the requirements in the will of his father, former Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, for five consecutive years of sobriety and good behavior.

Reasons for Decision.
Two principal reasons were given by the Appellate Court for deciding that Vincent Kerens' conduct had not shown the reformation which his father, by a five-year plan, sought to accomplish. The first reason was the action of Vincent Kerens in making affidavit, later admitted to be false, as to the circumstances which caused him and Mrs. Mae Linn to be arrested in a hotel in Los Angeles.

The other reason was Kerens' action in obtaining "secretly" a divorce from his first wife, Mrs. Jane Kerens, and in silencing the first wife's objections by a $400,000 property settlement, such as he had previously refused to make, contingent on his receiving his share of the estate. The divorce in 1924 was followed by his marriage to Mrs. Linn, who is now his wife.

Under the court's decision, Kerens will continue to receive an income from his share of the estate. At the time of Judge Faris' decision, he was receiving $12,000 a year, and some special allowances had also been made to him by the trust company. He will have the privilege, in future, of filing a new application, and claiming a more recent five-year period of good behavior. In that event, the trust company is advised by the court's opinion to act impartially, and not to take the applicant's side, as it did in the case heard by Judge Faris.

Religious Pledge Passed By.
In its long opinion, the court did not allude to the point raised by Kerens' sisters, Mrs. Gladys Colket and Mrs. Madeline Kenna, that his divorce and remarriage had not been "good behavior" under the religious standards of the father. Kerens, who was a Catholic, Judge Faris had overruled the sisters' contention, holding that if the elder Kerens had wished to impose religious standards of conduct on his son, the will should have said so. This point was passed over entirely by the Appellate Court, which held that Kerens' conduct was not good behavior even judged by secular standards.

The Appellate Court approved Judge Faris' refusal to order the legal costs incurred by the sisters to be paid from Vincent's share of the estate. "They were protecting themselves and no one else," the court says.

Kerens' claim of good behavior, which the trust company accepted, is declared by the Appellate Court to have been based on admitted falsehoods. The court holds that the trust company arbitrarily ignored facts known to it, and closed its eyes to other matters which had been formally charged and which it might have verified by investigation.

The five-year period covered by Kerens' claim of good behavior, as defined by the Appellate Court, was from Jan. 24, 1925, to the same date in 1929, the latter being the day when Kerens filed his claim which was allowed by the trust company.

"The testator," the Appellate court says, "was not satisfied with Kerens' conduct, and he sought to accomplish a reformation of his character by a five-year plan, which was to be completed by the end of 1929."

MOVE TO OUST PROSECUTORS IN DOG RACE CASE

Motion Filed in Madison County Circuit Court by Assistant States Attorney
M. J. Welch.

WRIT FAILS TO HALT OPERATION

Track Sure to Be Closed
Even if It Takes Day or Two, Special Prosecutor Says.

A motion to set aside the appointment of a Special Prosecutor to close the dog track of the Madison Kennel Club near Collinsville was filed in Madison County Circuit Court this afternoon by Assistant State's Attorney M. J. Welch.

About the same time, C. C. Ellington, of Alton, the Special Prosecutor appointed yesterday by Circuit Judges Bernreuter and Miller, gave Sheriff Fitzgerald $2 writs of injunction against unnamed employees of the club, directing him to serve them at the track tonight.

The petition to set aside the appointment of the Special Prosecutor recites his appointment was contrary to law, claiming such an appointee must be named for general rather than specific duties. It recites also the State's Attorney's office was not notified in advance of the appointment; declares the office contains three assistants, even though the State's Attorney is out of the State; and concludes that if the regular staff is enjoined from interfering with the track, then the Special Prosecutor automatically must be enjoined from doing so also.

Informed of the filing of Welch's motion, Judge Miller said: "In other words, the people are to be deprived of representation. Well, the State's Attorney can just forget about it. The motion has no merit. Of course, it will have to be argued in court."

The motion will be heard by Judges Miller and Bernreuter, who appointed the special prosecutor. Contempt Charges Threatened. As the writs are served at the track tonight, the deputy sheriff another deputy will note the names and addresses of those served. Sheriff Fitzgerald announced.

Judges Miller and Bernreuter announced today that citations for contempt of court will be issued against officers or employees of the kennel club if they continue their activities at the dog racing track after service of writs of injunction.

Although an injunction to cease operations immediately was issued yesterday by Judges Miller and Bernreuter, the races were run as usual last night, unhindered by the appearance of two Madison County Deputy Sheriffs who served a writ on a bookkeeper in the executive offices and three minor employees.

The judges had instructed Sheriff Peter Fitzgerald at 2 p. m. to serve the papers by nightfall, but the deputies did not appear until about 9:30 p. m., as bets were being placed for the fifth race in a card of 10. After serving, Frank Fruch, the bookkeeper, they seated themselves in an inner office awaiting the appearance of Richard S. Wilder, of Alton, president of the club, or other officers of the organization. The club officers did not appear and few in a crowd of about 10,000 persons knew the deputies were at the track.

Ticket Sellers Not Served. The deputies made no attempt to serve officials who were conducting the races, nor did they serve operators of the pari-mutuel booths.

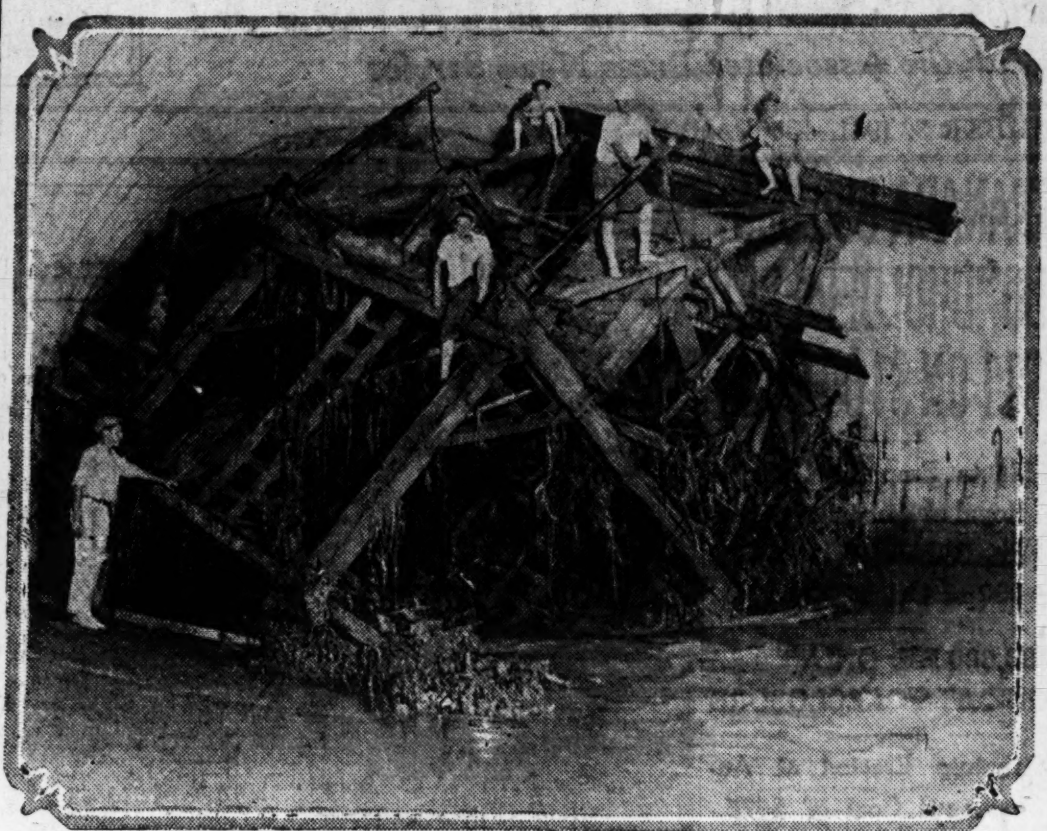

Additional writs remain to be served today. C. C. Ellington, of Alton, designated by Judges Bernreuter and Miller as a Special State's Attorney with Henry B. Eaton of Edwardsville and Harry F. Franklin of St. Louis City. His assistants, said today, it was not necessary technically to serve officers of the club to make the injunction effective.

"One writ is as good as 100," Ellington said, "but it is necessary to give formal notice of the injunction to employees through the serving of writs to make them liable to contempt of court proceedings if they persist in their activities. My course of action is sure, even if it should take a day or two to complete it. But it is certain that the dog track is going to close before long."

Sheriff Fitzgerald was not instructed to attempt to interfere with the operation of the track after serving the writs. Both he and State's Attorney Bohm were enjoined last Saturday from such interference by Circuit Judge Jesse R. Brown of Alton, the third judge in the seven-county circuit. Judge Brown's two associates, militant foes of the dog track, criticized him sharply for his action and appointed the Special Prosecutor yesterday to nullify the effect of his order.

Judge Brown said today he deemed it improper for him to discuss the paradoxical judicial situation created by the issuance of the two injunctions, one protecting the track against official interference

Ten-Ton Apparatus After Long Float in Des Peres Sewer

This 10-ton steel construction carriage came to rest near the mouth of the new river des Peres sewer, Tuesday evening, after being washed for four miles through the huge tube in the rush of storm water. It stopped when caught by a grating in the floor of the sewer, 75 feet from the mouth, which is south of Manchester avenue and west of Kingshighway. It had been standing near Delmar boulevard, where the western end of the sewer is being completed. As it came to rest it toppled partly over and formed a dam that caught driftwood. The car probably will have to be unbolted and hauled back to the job in sections.

and the other commanding it to close.

"I have not seen the injunction papers which were drawn up yesterday afternoon," he said, "and besides they are not in my province. I am concerned only with my order and that is a matter to be threshed out in court."

Judge Miller said the closing injunction was based partly upon decisions of the Illinois Appellate and Supreme courts, declaring dog racing to be both illegal and a violation of a provision of the State Constitution against lotteries. The Supreme Court handed down its decision in May, 1930, in a case involving the operation of the Hawthorne Kennel Club at Chicago.

As had been anticipated, Welch filed a motion yesterday to set aside Judge Brown's restraining order. Judge Brown indicated he would hold a hearing on the motion Wednesday.

The races last night comprised the third card to be held at the Madison Kennel Club's track since it closed Aug. 5, last, on the unexpected return of Judge Bernreuter from a Colorado vacation, with the announcement he had come back to see that the gambling laws of Madison County were not violated.

Preparations for Card Tonight. An hour before the races were scheduled to begin, the crowd began to gather, many of its members carrying afternoon newspapers containing news of the issuance of the closing injunction. Most of the crowd appeared to anticipate witnessing the track closed by officers as much as the races but after the first race was run attention was centered upon the dogs and pari-mutuel booths.

Preparations were under way at the track today to run the races as usual tonight.

UNOFFICIAL SILVER PARLEY CALLED IN PARIS SEPT. 17

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—An unofficial international conference of financial experts will be held in Paris Sept. 17 under auspices of the International Chamber of Commerce to study the problem of the depressed price of silver.

The meeting was announced today by the American section of the International Chamber. The conference was recommended at the meeting of the international Chamber here last May.

Experts have been invited from Great Britain, France, India, China, Japan and the United States. One representative will go from each nation. The American delegate will be selected by the American section of the chamber.

If the conference agrees on any recommendations, they will be submitted to the council of the International Chamber in Paris Oct. 23.

Silas H. Strawn, president of the American Chamber of Commerce, will attend the meeting of this council and later will visit Germany and Great Britain to confer with business leaders in regard to economic conditions.

SHIP REPORTS HEARING SIGNALS FROM WILKINS

Radio Messages Too Weak to Be Understood, Captain Says.

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 3.—Wireless contact with the Polar submarine Nautilus has been re-established by radio operators at land and sea stations in the Arctic, according to dispatches received here today.

The Pioneer Whaling Co. of Oslo received a cable via Spitsbergen from its cookery on Bear Island saying the radio operator there had intercepted a wireless message from the Nautilus Tuesday night.

The Nautilus operator said the submersible on which Sir Hubert Wilkins and his exploring party are attempting to reach the North Pole by diving under the ice cap was experiencing severe storms north of Bear Island.

By the Associated Press. COPENHAGEN, Sept. 3.—The correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph at Longyear City, Spitzbergen, quotes Capt. Jaeger of the steamship Inger as saying he heard radio signals from Sir Hubert Wilkins' Arctic submarine Nautilus at 9:50 o'clock last night but the signals were too weak for him to understand.

He said a "pair of arms" showed Mak from the window and that a moment later Mrs. Veras looked out. Previously, he said, he had heard someone quarrelling on an upper floor. Investigators also quoted George Garsay as saying Mrs. Veras had told his wife to poison him because he had objected to illegal activities in which the two women were engaged. Assistant Prosecutor Duncan C. McCreary ordered Mrs. Garsay arrested.

LUKE LEA AND BANK HEAD INDICTED AT KNOXVILLE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 3.—Luke Lea, Nashville publisher, and J. Basil Ramsey, Knoxville banker, were indicted yesterday by a Federal grand jury considering the collapse of the Holston Union National Bank here last November.

Ramsey, president of the bank, was indicted on charges of misapplication of approximately $174,000 of the bank's funds and making a false entry.

Lea was indicted on charges of aiding and abetting in the misapplication of about $154,000 of the bank's money.

TELLS OF SEEING MAN PUSHED FROM MRS. VERAS' WINDOW

Witness Relates Story of Fatal Injury of Lodger; Woman Is Held for Killing.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 3.—Investigators are checking the story of George Halasz that he saw Steve Mak pushed to his death from an attic window of Mrs. Rose Veras' rooming house in the Hungarian quarter last week.

Halasz, who said he left Mrs. Veras' home because he was beaten and robbed after he refused to let his landlady insure his life, was held as a witness against Mrs. Veras. She and her 18-year-old son, William, are charged with Mak's murder. AVIATOR LIVINGSTONE WINS HIS THIRD RACE AT CLEVELAND

By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 3.—John Livingstone of Aurora, Ill., won his third race of the National Air meet today, speeding around the 30-mile closed course at an average of 140.17 miles an hour in the free-for-all event for engines of 650 cubic inch piston displacement.

Ben Howard of St. Louis, who started sixth, moved up to second in the final lap, averaging 136.847 miles an hour. Vernon Roberts of Moline, Ill., doing 132.978 miles an hour, was third.

Livingstone took first place in the men's dead-stick landing contest, coming down 7½ inches from the marker.

The first race of the day, for slowest ships of 400 cubic inch displacement, was won by R. L. Hall of Springfield, Ill. Hall averaged 128.5 miles an hour.

Attendance at today's races was officially estimated at more than 35,000.

Livingstone won his second race of the day by finishing ahead of the field in the men's race for engines of 800 cubic-inch piston displacement with an average speed of 145.221 miles an hour in his monocoque for the 30-mile closed course.

$1,900,000 Vincent Kerens Award Reversed

Court states, "had the right to place in the trust company, as trustee, the power to determine when Vincent, of his own free will and desire, had passed five consecutive years of continued sobriety and good behavior." Such determination by it is final, unless such action is arbitrary. Good faith requires an honest effort to ascertain the facts, and honest determination from the ascertained facts. If the trustee acted thus, there is no room for disturbing its conclusions because someone else might have made a more searching inquiry, or might have thought the ascertained facts required a different result.

"But if it knew of matters concerning which honesty would require investigation, and failed to act, or if it knew of matters which would honestly compel a given determination, and it announced the contrary, it cannot be regarded as having exercised good faith, and its action would be arbitrary."

From early manhood, Vincent Kerens had been heavily addicted to intoxicants, to the point where the president of the trust company described him as a drunkard. He had never engaged in any useful occupation, but lived on the bounty of his father. Repeated attempts of his father to reform him were unsuccessful, and because of this situation the property it was intended might go to him was placed in trust, and his income therefrom made relatively small, and the inducement to reform was inserted in the quoted provision from the will.

Court Review of Case. When his father died (September, 1916), Vincent was about 39 years old, and had shown no sign of reformation. The Appellate Court then reviewed the suit, to "construct" the will, which the Court holds was in fact an attempt to defeat its provisions as to himself. This suit was decided adversely to Vincent Kerens by the Missouri Supreme Court in 1921.

The court rules of the filing of four successive applications by Vincent Kerens with the trust company for termination of the trust, the first in 1921, soon after the anniversary of his father's death. The trust company lumped these four applications and passed upon them adversely in May, 1925.

"It is rather apparent," the court says, "that a moving, if not a determining, reason for dismissal of these applications was something that occurred in Los Angeles in 1920, and the resulting conduct of Vincent in reference thereto, and other conduct at the Statler and Terminal hotels in St. Louis in 1922."

"About April 16, 1920, he was arrested in the Woodward Hotel, Los Angeles, and a Mrs. Mae Linn was arrested at the same time. They were in adjoining hotel rooms, and the charge was that Kerens had brought Mrs. Linn from El Paso, Tex., for immoral purposes. They were held in the station over night, but after a conference of police officers with the United States Attorney, were released without prosecution."

"Jan. 14, 1922, Vincent was found in the room of Mrs. Linn at the Statler Hotel, St. Louis, their rooms being short distance apart on the same floor. There was evidence that he had been drinking. It was also represented to the trustee that Mrs. Linn occupying adjoining room with the terminal Hotel about two weeks before."

Kerens' Explanation. "Knowing that the trust company had information of the Los Angeles and St. Louis incidents, Vincent filed affidavits intended to meet these situations. As to the Statler matter, he filed affidavits of himself and Mrs. Linn to the effect that at the time he was found in her room, he had gone there with another man merely for a visit to her, an old friend, whom he had found to be stopping at the hotel."

"As to the Los Angeles incident, he filed his own affidavit and that of Mrs. R. E. Gara in support of his then pending application. These affidavits were filed only a short time before the beginning of the five-year period now under consideration, but their effect is brought into that period by a sworn statement filed by Kerens July 12, 1923, by Kerens.

"In that sworn statement was made an answer to comments on this incident by an investigator for the trust company; and the affiant (Kerens) strongly insisted that the trust company should believe the affidavits as to what occurred, rather than to consider the fact that no redress for this alleged outrage (the arrest in Los Angeles) was sought by Kerens or the woman."

"Thus, at this later date, he is insisting that the trustee shall accept these two affidavits, and this insistence is fortified by his oath thereto. Thereafter, the trustee employed a detective agency to make a special investigation of the incident. The result was to show beyond any doubt that these affidavits were false, and this fact was admitted on the trial before (in District Court), and the trustee was convinced of the falsity. A part of the proof was another affidavit by Mrs. Gara, to the effect that she was not the woman arrested, but that Mae Linn had befriended her, and had asked her to make an affidavit in connection with settlement of the estate of Mrs. Linda's husband. When Mrs. Gara signed the affidavit, she did so without reading it, and supposing it to be as represented."

"Falsely as Colwell." "An attempt was made to extenuate this conduct in presenting the false affidavits, on the ground that Vincent wished to protect the name of Mrs. Linn, whom he subsequently married. This is as false as Colwell. The obvious purpose was to deceive the trustee, because the trustee had information of his being in the company of Mrs. Linn at the Statler and Terminal hotels in St. Louis, and it would throw a very unfavorable light on the Los Angeles transaction if she were a party thereto."

The Appellate Court then turns to the circumstances under which Kerens divorced his first wife. It recites that Kerens and his first wife separated several years before the alleged Kerens' death, under an agreement by which she received $450 a month for herself and their daughter. "She was living at an address in New York, and Kerens knew where she was," the Court says.

"March 20, 1924, in Dallas County, Tex., he filed suit for divorce on the ground of desertion. Kerens divorced his first wife, filed in small newspaper at Garden City, May 13 a divorce was procured. In such proceedings, Texas law requires that a statement of the case be filed."

"In that statement, Kerens testified that he had made a home for Mrs. Kerens in California after he returned from the World War, but that she refused to live with him. "About a week after the divorce, he married Mrs. Mae Linn."

The court then tells of the suit filed in Texas by the first Mrs. Kerens, to set aside the decree, on charges of fraud and perjury, and on the further allegation that, when his petition was filed, Kerens had not been a resident of Dallas County for the length of time required by the State law. The first Mrs. Kerens, denying the statement that Kerens had provided a home in California for her, said that "at that very time he was indulging in drunkenness and debauchery, and living with another woman, whom he had taken from El Paso; and that in 1920-23, incestuously he lived with another woman, and in 1924, at the time of filing the divorce suit, he was living with the said woman, and that the time of the divorce decree he was guilty of the same wrong."

The first Mrs. Kerens also charged that the purpose of the divorce was to enable Kerens to marry, and to deprive her of any possible future interest in the Kerens estate.

Settled for $400,000. Oct. 11, 1926, it is set forth, Kerens signed an agreement with his first wife, by which she was to receive $300,000 from him, contingent on the termination of the trust, and an additional $100,000 trust fund for life. She dropped her suit and the divorce decree was declared final.

"All this," the Court says, "was known to the trustee (St. Louis Union Trust Co.) at the time it entered upon determination of Kerens' application."

In his final application to the trust company, filed in January, 1928, and covering the five years previous, Kerens gave a detailed narrative of his movements for the entire time, and presented about 60 affidavits, signed statements and letters, all picturing his conduct in a favorable light. The trust company appointed an attorney, Samuel M. McPheters, to investigate the investigation of the authenticity of these letters and other documents, and authorized him to travel in the course of his inquiry. He interviewed the writers of the letters in St. Louis and Dallas, and wrote to others, or obtained information as to their trustworthiness. The result of McPheters' inquiry was favorable to Kerens. Of this, the Appellate Court says:

"Had the entire proof and knowledge of the trustee (St. Louis Union) consisted solely of this proof, there could be no hesitation in saying that Vincent had submitted a well-nigh perfect case. However, that was not all the trustee knew."

"What the Trustee Knew." "It knew that Vincent had endeavored to deceive the trustee by affidavits admittedly false, filed shortly before the five-year period, the verity of which was insisted upon in his sworn statement almost six months later."

"It knew that he had secretly divorced his first wife, and had married the woman who was alleged to have been his companion in some of his escapades. It knew that the first wife had filed a motion in Texas, making most serious charges."

"In short, the trustee knew that Vincent would not stop at false swearing to obtain the money; that he had attempted to deceive the trustee by false swearing, and he stood accused of acts which, true, would have prevented a fair-minded man from honestly terminating that he had posed good behavior during the five-year period.

"In this situation, it was obviously the duty of the trustee company to be very much on its guard, to make a reasonably searching investigation to be sure it would be imposed on."

The trustee did not investigate the truth of charges in the first litigation, the opinion went on, until Mrs. Kenna (a sister) made a protest, when an investigation obtained statements from Kerens' lawyers concerning whether or not Kerens had been in Dallas, Texas, at the time of the divorce. The investigation ended the most serious matter in Court said.

"The suggestion that Vincent entered into the contract for the purpose of providing for his first wife and child is ridiculous. The trustee knew it was ridiculous. It knew this because a St. Louis attorney had endeavored to secure a property settlement of this character and had made himself a party to one of the trust company's officers, but had with no success because the trustee regarded his statement as bluff."

Closing the Door. "The trustee knew that Vincent did was forced on him. The face of this situation, it referred to Mrs. Collet appear in person, or her counsel to present argument, and to call Vincent before it, at her request, for examination. This closed the door to the best source of information—the cross-examination of Vincent himself. Nor did it seek to obtain information from the divorce wife."

"In our opinion, the insistence on this false affidavit, for the purpose of deceiving the trustee, was conduct as should have prevented allowance of this application. The admitted situation, should be regarded as arbitrary and unreasonable. When to this is added the fact that the trustee made no attempt to investigate whether Vincent had been living with another woman for almost a year and half of the five-year period, which he was undivided, the arbitrary action of the trustee is conclusively shown."

"If (the trust company) deliberately ignored the determination of facts which it knew, and it deliberately closed its eyes to the investigation of other facts which had been seriously and formally charged, and which it must have appreciated from what it already knew of the connection between Vincent and the woman involved."

"The attitude of the trust company in execution of this trust, in lightening as well as endorsing, instead of closely following the terms of the trust for the proper effectuation of one of its main purposes—if not the main one—the reformation of Vincent, the trustee has been exceedingly liberal in allowance. It has since the emergency provision of the will to elastic provisions."

Also they considered it possible that Kerens' pecuniary collection on Vol's accounts could be recovered in cases where it was shown that the brokers failed to take proper precautions to assure themselves of Vol's right to be speculating."

The question of whether Wolf had accomplished within the bank was promptly discounted by the bankers. Wolf insisted that not only his wife knew of his market trading, but that she was a partner in other women's or for evidence of extravagant living or excessive gambling, but they could find no indication of irregularities in his behavior. His habits were exemplary, they said.

James C. Murray, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, said the board would investigate brokers' dealings in the grain market as soon as the names were made public. The investigation will attempt to determine whether the brokers were culpable or negligent in taking Mr. Wolf's account and whether salesmen seeking commissions, encouraged him by false promises. The Chicago Stock Exchange also expected to conduct an inquiry of Wolf's dealings with brokers in securities.

A. J. Weeg, 21 years old, an employee of a brokerage house for seven years, was held by police today on his own admission, authorities said, that he had embezzled $12,000 from his employer, Weeg, bond salesman for A. C. Allen & Co., had been playing the stock market for several years, according to his own story. When bonds were presented to his office for sale he would take them, in many instances, and put them up at other brokers' offices to cover his speculations, he said.

PERMITS REVOKED FOR HUNTING WATERFOWL ON RESERVATIONS
Secretary Hyde Specifies Eight Places Where Sport Formerly Was Allowed
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Secretary of Agriculture Wiley today revoked orders permitting hunting waterfowl on Federal bird reservations. The eight reservations named in his order were Salt Lake, Arizona; Big Lake, Arkansas; Tule Lake, California; Deer Lake, Idaho; Nine Pipe and Pablo, Montana; Illinois Grande, New Mexico; and Gold Springs, Oregon. These were the only ones of the 11 bird reservations on which hunting had been permitted.

The Secretary said his order was in line with the recent presidential proclamation, prohibiting the season on ducks, geese, brant and coot 30 days because of a scarcity of waterfowl.

Closing the Door.

"It (the trust company) deliberately ignored the determinative facts which it knew, and it deliberately closed its eyes to the investigation of other facts which had been seriously and formally charged, and which it must have appreciated from what it already knew of the connection between Vincent and the woman involved.

"The attitude of the trust company in execution of this trust is enlightening as well as astonishing. Instead of closely following the terms of the trust for the proper effectuation of one of its main purposes—if not the main one—the reformation of Vincent, the trustee has been exceedingly liberal in allowances. It has stretched the emergency provision of the will to elastic proportions."

Alleged Kidnapers and Woman Decoy

Harry F. Powers Closely Guarded in Jail — Trial Likely at November Term of Court.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Harry F. Powers, confessed slayer of two women and three children, probably will be put on trial at the November term of court here. Murder warrants were issued yesterday.

Meanwhile he is in jail, closely guarded. Everything handed him is scrutinized by jail attaches and he is not permitted to wear a belt for fear he will kill himself.

For more than an hour yesterday a physician, engaged by Powers' counsel, J. Ed Law, examined Powers. Law said the examination was to determine injuries he says the prisoner received when being questioned by police Saturday. Announcement of his confessions of the murder of Mrs. Ada Bulck Elcher and her children, Faith, Ridge, and Mrs. Dorothea P. Lemke, Worcester, Mass., followed the questioning. The bodies were found buried in a ditch near Powers' garage in Quiet Dell, six miles from here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flemming, Northboro, Mass., are expected here tomorrow to claim the body of Mrs. Lemke. Mrs. Flemming is Mrs. Lemke's sister.

Detectives today continued communication with officials in about 20 cities, checking Powers' correspondence with many women.

Officials here said they were receiving mail and telegrams from hundreds of persons throughout the United States who have friends or relatives missing.

Chief of Police Duckworth said Powers' wife, Mrs. Luella Powers, had changed her attitude from one of hostility to one of sympathy in her husband's innocence. He quoted her as saying she was "through with Harry Powers; I wouldn't have him turned loose for a hundred million dollars."

Detectives today continued communication with officials in about 20 cities, checking Powers' correspondence with many women.

Officials here said they were receiving mail and telegrams from hundreds of persons throughout the United States who have friends or relatives missing.

Chief of Police Duckworth said Powers' wife, Mrs. Luella Powers, had changed her attitude from one of hostility to one of sympathy in her husband's innocence. He quoted her as saying she was "through with Harry Powers; I wouldn't have him turned loose for a hundred million dollars."

Seeks to Revoke Charter of Club That Powers Used.

WOMAN JURORS, SHOWING PREJUDICE, HELD IN CONTEMPT

Jealous of Plaintiff in Damage Suit, at Rockford, Ill., It Is Alleged.

By the Associated Press.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 3.—Mrs. Margaret Culbertson and Mrs. Gladys Garrett were convicted of contempt of court by Circuit Judge Edward Shurtliff yesterday.

The court ruled the women had violated their oaths as jurors in an automobile accident damage suit last March. Mrs. Luck Avey, injured in the accident, received $500 judgment against Walker Medaris. She asked for $10,000.

Mrs. Avey's counsel, in preferring the contempt charges against the women, said they were jealous of Mrs. Avey and were prejudiced. The court's ruling, culminated in contempt of court by Circuit Judge Edward Shurtliff yesterday.

BLIMP DRIFTING TO SEA WITH 3 ABOARD SAVED

Ground Crew at Newark Airport Moors Disabled Dirigible in Storm.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Buffeted by winds of a rising storm, a run-away dirigible with three men aboard was rescued last night by a ground crew at North Beach airport, as it drifted helplessly with a crippled motor toward the ocean. Its fuel tanks were almost empty.

Prevented by the storm and the failure of its motor from mooring at Teterboro airport, N. J., the crew tried again to land in safety as they were swept over the Newark airport.

In the dusk, Pilot Miller, on detached duty from Langley Field, Va., managed to steer his craft to the North Beach airport, the wind and his remaining engine helping. There Capt. Harry Rogers, airport manager, heard the crew's cries for aid. Assembling a ground crew of 25 men he rushed them to the field where they managed to catch lines lowered from the dirigible and moor it.

Soon after the ground crew had caught the blimp, the wind and storm struck with full force. The gas bag, light and of large surface, dragged the ground crew all around the field. Aided by 30 more men who saw their plight, the ground crew finally got the craft under control.

In addition to Lieut. Miller, those on board were Maj. W. R. Wadsworth, 15 years in the army lighter-than-air service, and A. T. Bailey, a passenger, of White Plains, N. Y. All landed without injury.

Maj. Wadsworth told Capt. Rogers that in all his experience in different types of aircraft, he had never before been in so tight a place.

"If your men had not been so efficient in catching us," he said, "we should certainly have drifted over the ocean. With only one engine working and less than 15 minutes' fuel supply left, we would have been in for a bad night, helplessness before the wind."

For an hour after the blimp was brought under control, the crew continued to hold it until a mooring mast could be brought to North Beach from Teterboro and assembled.

The blimp, a small ship with two engines, is in use in the metropolitan area for advertising purposes.

POLICE FIGHT ROBBERS; TWO SLAIN, 3 WOUNDED

Shooting in Fort Smith, Ark., Follows Attempt to Stop Automobile.

By the Associated Press.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 3.—Two men were killed and three wounded late last night in a highway pistol fight that occurred when officers, hunting a group of filling station robbers, tried to halt an approaching automobile.

The dead are Police Captain W. A. Bourland and a suspected robber identified as Orv Crow of Tulsa and Bartlesville, Ok. His companions, who gave their names as Everett and Ted Wackerly, are in a hospital under guard today. They were seriously wounded.

Patrolman Ralph Howard who was with Capt. Bourland also was wounded.

Officers said Crow and the Wackerlys were identified today by J. E. Cantwell of Spiro, Ark., as the three men who robbed his filling station.

COMMITTEE PLANNING PARADE FOR CARDINALS IF THEY WIN

Mayor Miller Organizes Group to Arrange Pennant Celebration—$1000 Fund Sought.

Plans for a parade and celebration in honor of the Cardinals if they win the National League pennant, as now appears likely, were started today at a meeting called by Mayor Miller.

At the Mayor's suggestion, City Register Grosse was elected general chairman of the celebration committee; Charles F. Hatfield, secretary; Adolph M. Dietz, treasurer; Cyrus Crane Wilmore, chairman of the finance committee, and Robert B. Brooks, director of Streets and Sewers, chairman of the parade committee.

Grosse suggested an immediate campaign to raise $1000 for the celebration. He told the 40 Cardinal enthusiasts present in the Board of Aldermen's chamber that all St. Louis business men derived benefit from the visitors who attend a world's series, and said it was St. Louis' duty to exhibit its civic spirit with a suitable celebration.

The question of whether members of the Knot Hole Gang should be included in the parade was held in abeyance until it could be learned whether the Board of Education will agree to disband school at 11 a. m. on the proposed parade day, Sept. 29.

KILLED IN 17-STORY PLUNGE

George N. Saum's Death Accident—Chicago Police Say.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Police decided the death of George N. Saum, 61 years old, who fell today from the seventeenth floor of a downtown hotel was accidental. Lyle Saum, a son, told Lieut. David Schwartz his father's stock market losses had been insufficient to drive him to suicide and that he had no other reason to be despondent.

When police reached the hotel room from which Saum fell, they found Charles Beaumont of Decatur, Ill., asleep in a chair, they said. He told them he and Saum attended a show and returned for a few drinks. "I fell asleep," he said, "and I believe Saum overbalanced and fell out when he went to the window for a breath of air."

South Grand Viaduct Repaired.

The South Grand boulevard viaduct over railroad yards will be reopened for normal traffic at 4:30 p. m. today, announced Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks on completion of replacing wood block paving with asphalt by M. A. Steele within four days, while alternate traffic lanes were used over the bridge.

Pilot and Two Spectators Victims; Ship Falls in Crowd.

By the Associated Press.

FERRARA, Italy, Sept. 3.—A pilot and two spectators were killed today when one of 900 airplanes landed at the start of a parade to Bologna fell into the crowd.

The accident occurred after King Victor Emmanuel, Air Minister Balbo, Marshal Badoglio and the Duke of Aosta had reviewed Italy's air fleet, ending the air maneuvers.

Slain by Divorced Wife.

By the Associated Press.

TULSA, Ok., Sept. 3.—Donald Crowe, 31 years old, an auditor, died today of a bullet wound he received as he broke down the front door of his divorced wife's home after she had refused him admittance.

Mrs. Lorraine Crowe, 24 years old, told officers she lived because she was afraid. W. L. Coffey, County Attorney, said she would be charged with murder. Mrs. Crowe obtained a divorce a few weeks ago.

NON-RESIDENT POLICEMAN FIRED

Patrolman Eugene Gonzalez, Deer Street District, was dismissed from the force yesterday for establishing a residence outside the city.

Although Gonzalez, a member of the department for 17 years, testified he lived at 5509 Palm street, an investigation disclosed his home was at 3838 Waco avenue, Normandy, St. Louis County.

PERMITS REVOKED FOR HUNTING WATERFOWL ON RESERVATIONS

Secretary Hyde Specifies Eight Places Where Formerly Was Allowed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde today revoked orders permitting hunting water fowl on Federal bird reservations. The eight reservations named in his order were Salt River, Arizona; Big Lake, Arkansas; Little Lake, California; Deer Flat, Idaho; Nine Pipe and Pablo, Montana; Rio Grande, New Mexico; and Odd Springs, Oregon. These were the only ones of the 81 bird reservations on which hunting had been permitted.

The Secretary said his order was in line with the recent presidential proclamation shortening the season for ducks, geese, brant and coot to 10 days because of a scarcity of water fowl.

BANK LAW REPEAL

EFFECTIVE SEPT. 14

Missouri Change Abolishes Felony Prosecution in Insolvency Cases.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 3.—Although the 1931 Missouri Legislature made little changes in the criminal statutes, it did repeal one of the most far-reaching laws on the books governing offenses of bank officials.

The statute repealed, effective Sept. 14, is one that made it possible to charge bank presidents, cashiers or directors with a felony for receiving deposits in a bank knowing it to be in an insolvent condition. The law even went so far as to provide that failure of a bank or trust company was prima facie evidence of knowledge on the bank official that the institution was insolvent.

Prosecutions Despite Change.
An odd feature of the repeal of this law is the fact that since the bill was passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor there have been several prosecutions under its provisions in various parts of the State. Those prosecutions were made possible because of the fact the bill repealing the law did not take effect until 30 days after final adjournment of the Legislature. A number of bankers convicted under its provisions will be serving terms in state prison here after the law under which they were punished is no longer in effect.

Senator Ralph Wammack, Democrat, of Bloomfield, who made a stirring fight for repeal of this law, declared it to be a "vicious and injurious" statute. He said that so long as it remained on the books banks would always have trouble in selecting boards of directors without putting them in jeopardy.

Often Before Supreme Court.
Time and again the law was before the Supreme Court on test cases involving convictions of bankers. It was repeatedly upheld, perhaps the only weakening on the part of the court was in holding officers must be shown to have had knowledge of the bank's insolvency. The court went so far as to hold in one case that receiving separate deposits from different persons constituted separate offenses.

The fact that the law was so frequently passed upon was said to be the reason for its favorite use by prosecuting attorneys and grand juries in cases involving bank officials.

DIVES FROM MERCHANTS BRIDGE AND WILL TRY THE MUNICIPAL

William Nitchman Will Attempt Second Leap on Sept. 23, Weather Permitting.

William Nitchman, 24-year-old chauffeur, who swims and dives when he is not working, took an 85-foot header from the Merchants Bridge Tuesday and announced that he plans to "make" the Municipal Bridge on Sept. 23 if weather conditions are favorable.

Nitchman, who is married and has a 6-year-old daughter, swims at the Forest Park Highlands pool and was coached in diving by "Bud" Dobbins of that pool. He made the dive from rail level protected only by a leather helmet. He opened up about 35 feet above the water, entering perfectly. A friend waiting in a skiff picked him up. Nitchman lives at 5978 Theodosia avenue.

Does it pay to take a chance on old worn tires when safe new tires cost so little?

Does it pay to gamble on unknown makes when real Goodyears cost no more?

Look at the prices listed here. Amazingly, record-breaking low, aren't they?

And the tires you get at those low prices are Goodyear Pathfinders, tried and true—great sturdy Super-twist balloons, built to Goodyear standards by Goodyear craftsmen.

Check the list carefully. See how little it will cost to re-equip your car.

Here are tremendous bargains, not alone because of the low price, but even more because of the long-wearing dependable quality you get for your money.

MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND!

NORGE ROLLATOR REFRIGERATION LEADS IN 1931 GAIN

Only one electric refrigerator ever showed such an increase in popular acceptance in St. Louis in a similar period as occurred during the first six months of 1931.....

The Refrigerator was NORGE. The Gain was 80%.

This is the sixth year of Norge in St. Louis and each year has shown a great increase in sales over the year before.

And Norge popularity has only started. Daily more and more people are learning the advantages of having the extra power of Rollator Refrigeration.

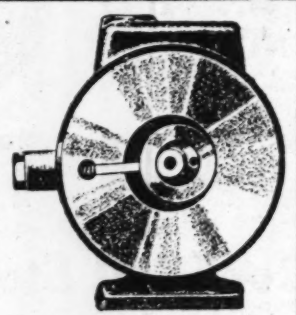

That power comes from the unique Rollator, the simple, powerful, compact mechanism found only in Norge.

The Rollator is described by users as "absolutely the latest," "the simplest," "the seeming ultimate in refrigeration equipment"! It is just a roller that rolls and makes ice... there are only three moving parts, almost everlasting. Norge and Norge alone offers Rollator Refrigeration... care free, trouble free, service free, unwavering economical performance.

Rollator refrigeration has made Norge the St. Louis leader in apartment use and the St. Louis leader with critical buyers for the home. Norge also leads in the St. Louis area with an independent dealer organization. There is a Norge dealer in every neighborhood.

Rollator Refrigeration
Simplest electric refrigeration mechanism, the Norge Rollator has only three moving parts, submerged in a permanent bath of protective oil. Its extra cooling power makes it last longer and cost less to operate... in fact, Norge actually pays for itself.

Norge is manufactured by Norge Corporation, Detroit, a division of Borg-Warner Corporation, one of the world's largest makers of automotive parts, including free wheeling.

NORGE ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

Discriminating buyers see the Norge before they buy... progressive dealers see the Norge before they sell. Some desirable territory is still available to up-to-date merchants.

Watervoir shown in this model is extra equipment.

First reports of the outbreak were received here several days ago by Hal Nagle, amateur radio operator, from an amateur at Uga-shik. The extent of the disease was not reported. Ugashik is on the Alaskan peninsula.

Three hours after the injunction suit was filed, 50 men waiting on Highway No. 3, near Columbia, were arrested and taken to the Monroe County courthouse at Waterloo, where they were guarded in a courtroom "for investigation." The Sheriff's office reported several sledges and axes were found in nine automobiles.
A tank truck which left Columbia under guard a short time after the arrest reached the Pevely plant in St. Louis this afternoon.

Earlier in the day, however, a 1500-gallon tank truck containing an undetermined quantity, was emptied five miles north of Alton, and 3000 pounds was dumped from three farmers' trucks at Chester, Evansville and Palestine, Ill. Two truck drivers were cut and bruised and a farmer suffered a broken arm in a running fight south of Pana.

The dairy company sued to enjoin the organization, incorporated in Illinois, 13 officers and directors and four individuals from destroying milk for the dairy or its trucks or containers, and from threatening or assaulting anyone engaged in transporting it, or any producer under contract to Pevely.

The dairy concern's action followed its decision to attend the Springfield conference, which was scheduled yesterday at Effingham but adjourned when the dairy failed to send a representative.

Dan C. Kerckhoff, president of the dairy concern, planned to attend the Springfield meeting, following a long distance telephone conference late yesterday in which Chief Moody of Illinois Highway Police, a number of whose men have been called from their duties to guard milk trucks, is quoted as having declared that if the dealer proposed to take an arbitrary attitude, so would the highway police.

Notice Received After Hours.
The Pevely company, explained
William Hagemeyer, secretary-treasurer, had no such disposition.
He said the notice of the Effingham conference had been telephoned after office hours and left with a clerk, without any indication that it was an official invitation. While the distributor had no advance suggestions for a method of settling the controversy, he said, it awaited suggestions from the State Department of Agriculture with interest.

Withholding of milk has not yet affected the essential needs of the concern, he declared. The Sanitary Milk Producers' estimate was that 85 per cent of the supply obtained from individual farmers in Missouri and Illinois was cut off by Monday's strike and vote and the cooperation of non-members.

Arbitration has been suggested by the Consumers' Milk Commission, with a statement detailing the formulation last year of the milk marketing plan in which Pevely refused to join other large dealers, and asserting, "Pevely representatives would not 'sit round the table' with representatives of the consumers, the farmers and the distributors, and this is the result."
The farmers' organization has stated that it would welcome arbitration, but was prepared to continue the strike six months if necessary.

What Two Sides Contend.
A new annual contract which producers declared would bind farmers to sell milk to the Pevely Co. at its own price was cited as precipitating the strike. Essentially it is a showdown between the dairy and the organized farmers, said to have 9000 members selling on the marketing plan to the other large dairies and several smaller dealers.

The distributor contends the strike is an effort to force it to join the other dairies in dealing with the producers' co-operative on the marketing plan, and that force led by Pevely in retail prices—from 13 cents a quart and 8 cents a pint to 11 cents a quart and 7 cents a pint—were directed, through the dealer's competitors, against the organized farmers who deal with them.

PEVELY CO. GETS ORDER ENJOINING MILK PRODUCERS

Temporary Injunction Is Granted Restraining Farmers From Interfering With Shipments.

A temporary restraining order, returnable next Thursday, to prevent the Sanitary Milk Producers from interfering with shipments of milk for the Pevely Dairy Co. was granted by Federal Judge Davis this afternoon, while a conference aimed at settlement of the dairy farmers' strike got under way at Springfield and reports of disorders continued from various parts of Illinois.

Public and press were barred as Director of Agriculture Pearson and Chief Moody of Highway Police began a hearing at Springfield on the causes of the controversy, announcing that they were attempting a peaceful settlement and would give out a statement at the close of the conference.

Almost simultaneously with insurance of the Federal restraining order in St. Louis, 15 State warrants charging rioting and peace disturbance against Fayette County farmers were issued at Vandalla, Ill.

Three hours after the injunction suit was filed, 50 men waiting on Highway No. 3, near Columbia, were arrested and taken to the Monroe County courthouse at Waterloo, where they were guarded in a courtroom "for

"Of Course I Want

ZEIGLER
COAL

—It's the Best I Ever Used"

It's the same old story. Miserable results with unknown brands, and then Mr. Jones tried Zeigler Coal. His order is a "repeat" from now on. Nothing but Zeigler Coal for him, because, he says, "It's the best I ever used."

Genuine Zeigler Coal is always the same—backed by the name and fame of the big Zeigler mines at Zeigler, Illinois.

There are good reasons why Zeigler Coal gives complete satisfaction! It is the quick starting coal that burns with a clean, hot flame. It produces only a small amount of light, soft ash and practically no smoke or soot. Zeigler Coal is ALL coal . . . and it is delivered in the correct size for your service.

*Mr. Jones is the spokesman for thousands of Zeigler users.

RECEIVER DENIED FOR FULTON IRON WORKS

Judge Faris Disapproves Taking Big Business Under Court's Wing.

A request for appointment of a receiver for the Fulton Iron Works Co. of Wellston, made in a suit filed in Federal Court at noon today was refused immediately by Federal Judge Faris. The suit alleged that the company, which makes sugar mill machinery and engines, was not insolvent but had some frozen assets, could not meet its bills and was threatened with other suits.

In denying the application in chambers, it was learned, Judge Faris said to a group of lawyers interested in the case: "I do not approve of the growing habit of the courts, particularly the Federal Courts, of taking big business under their wings, to give it a chance to draw its financial breath, while small merchants faced with the same situation are forced to throw up their hands and seek relief in bankruptcy."

When the receivership suit was filed it was taken by the lawyers to the Judge's office, as court was not in session. Among these attorneys were Samuel A. Mitchell, W. Frank Carter and his son, Emmet T. Carter. The conference with the Judge lasted about an hour. The lawyers took the petition with them on leaving, saying they would file an amended petition. Judge Faris suggested, on hearing this, that he might be somewhat prejudiced as to entertaining an amended suit. The lawyers did not reply.

The plaintiff in the suit was W. K. Mitchell Co. of Philadelphia, with a claim of $19,938 against the Fulton company. Two months ago a merger of the Fulton company with the Goshlin-Birmingham Manufacturing Co. of Birmingham, Ala., directed and financed by the Whiting Corporation of Chicago, was announced. Thereupon Mrs. G. A. Wurdeman of Webster Groves, owner of 30 shares of Fulton stock, filed an injunction suit in the St. Louis County Circuit Court, to stop the merger. The case was transferred to Federal Court here upon request of counsel for the Fulton company. It is pending.

Last November, after another stockholder's receivership suit against the Fulton company had been dismissed in the county Circuit Court, an unexpected duplicate of that suit was filed the same afternoon in Mrs. Wurdeman's name. Under her suit Circuit Judge Mulroy quickly appointed State Senator Ralph as receiver, but the company appealed to the Supreme Court of Missouri, which issued a preliminary rule of prohibition against the receivership. That matter is pending in the Supreme Court. Mrs. Wurdeman's husband, a Clayton lawyer, formerly was a Circuit Judge in the County. The Fulton Iron Works Co., which is 73 years old, has been troubled for some time by the depression in the sugar industry. Its merger with the concern in Birmingham was intended to diversify its line of products and involved a combined invested capital of about $10,000,000.

New Seaplane Record Claimed. By the Associated Press. SAINT RAPHAEL, France, Sept. 2.—Naval Lieutenant Demougeot and Pilot Gonard claimed today to have established an international speed record for a seaplane with a two-ton load. They said they had attained an average speed of 102.5 miles an hour over 1242 miles.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS LIKELY TO ENROLL 116,000

91,000 Children Are Expected to Report at Opening Sessions Next Tuesday.

When the public schools reopen next Tuesday at 9 a. m. about 91,000 children are expected to enroll. The enrollment is likely to exceed 116,000, however, when the term is under way in the 154 schools.

On opening day last year the enrollment was 90,582, but the eventual gross enrollment was 116,529, with an average attendance of 92,119 daily. Parents and guardians are urged by school officials to have their children report next Tuesday, instead of delaying. The steady increase in attendance is reflected in the opening day enrollment of preceding years, as follows: 1929, 89,172; 1928, 88,388; 1927, 87,572; and 1926, 86,533.

There will be 3046 teachers and principals in the schools, including 466 Negroes, and the usual corps of physicians and nurses will safeguard the children's health. In charge of the buildings will be 581 custodians and matrons.

Two New Buildings Ready.

Two new buildings will be occupied when the term opens. They are the John H. Gundlach School, 2521 Arlington avenue, a grade school with 19 rooms and capacity for 355 pupils, and the Richard H. Cole School for Negroes, 3925 Enright avenue, with 24 rooms and capacity of 1080 students. The Cole School will replace the West Belle School, which was unsatisfactory.

The new shop and laboratory unit of the Herbert S. Hadley Vocational School, fronting on Bell and Channing avenues and School street, will not be ready for occupancy until Nov. 1. In the meantime, pupils in noncommercial subjects will be accommodated in an earlier unit on this site, at 2422 School street, which formerly was the annex of the old Central High school. Those taking commercial studies will report to the former Mary Institute Building, Lake avenue and Waterman boulevard.

It is the intention of the Board of Education to abandon the Mary Institute structure after Nov. 1. It has been leased from Washington University. The commercial students will be transferred to the Hadley School shop unit when it is ready. This unit was placed under construction in May, 1930, for a contract price of $1,592,450. In the future, academic and auditorium units to cost about $2,000,000 will be added, facing Bell avenue and Grand boulevard, where Central High formerly stood.

Two Schools Contemplated.
The Board of Education is preparing to build a new southwestern high school at Kingshighway and Arsenal street and is erecting another new grade school, the Woerner.

Hundreds of teachers and principals will meet at the Soldan High School auditorium at 10 a. m. next Monday to hear Superintendent of Instruction Gerling discuss educational policies and the developments of the past year.

St. Louis' first public school, known originally as Special School No. 1 but later called the Pierre Laclede, to honor the founder of the city, was opened in 1833—93 years ago. It was a frame building of two rooms, which cost $1370, at Fourth and Spruce streets. It accommodated 175 pupils. The present Laclede School, 5821 Kennerly avenue, in use for several years, cost about $200,000 and has 22 class rooms and a kindergarten.

STAGE HANDS AND THEATERS AGREE ON NEW CONTRACTS

Wage Scale of $75 a Week to Continue for Another Year.
John P. Nick, international representative here for the Theatrical Brotherhood, reported today that the management of the Fox Theater had signed a new working agreement with union stage hands, and that other large movie houses "virtually have agreed to sign." The old agreement expired Monday, but was extended until such time as the new contract can be put into effect. Conditions covered in the agreement are the same as those prevailing under the old contract, which fixed the weekly wage scale at $75 for seven days of seven working hours. Local managers of movie houses, other than the Fox, have to obtain ratification of the contract from their various headquarters in the East. Nick explained, causing a delay in the completion of the transaction. Nick said he expects to negotiate for a new agreement with the managers of the Shubert-Rialto and American theaters.

TWO KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Four Other Persons Injured Near Vandalla, Ill.

VANDALLA, Ill., Sept. 2.—Two persons were killed and four injured, two seriously, in an automobile crash this morning five miles south of here. The dead are Raymond Sapp and Martin Summers, both of Vandalla. Those injured seriously are Clyde Caruthers and Mack Cahoon. They are in the Vandalla Hospital, with Frank Summers, 14-year-old son of Martin Summers, who is suffering from minor injuries, while Mrs. W. L. Rule of East St. Louis is in the St. Elmo Hospital.

The five Vandallians, Sapp, Summers, Caruthers, Cahoon and Frank Summers, were in Cahoon's car, en route to a broom corn field two miles west of Shobonier, where they were working. Slightly behind time, they attempted to pass a car going south, which was driven by Mrs. J. A. Wright of Memphis, Tenn., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rule of East St. Louis, and crashed head on into a large moving van, which was loaded with 250 bushels of peaches. Shelton Bates was driving the van.

Prisoner Who Died in Colorado Roamed West on Jet Black Horse.

CANON CITY, Colo., Sept. 2.—"The Black Phantom," who, clad in somber garb and riding a jet black horse, roamed Colorado and Wyoming for several years, was buried at the Colorado penitentiary yesterday. He was Allen H. Downen, 30 years old, Colorado's oldest prisoner. He died Tuesday, having served 23 years under a life sentence for murder.

Colorado officers said he was the mysterious horseman who once ruled the highways leading into Denver, and Wyoming pioneers recalled the black phantom rider who disappeared shortly before Downen's conviction.

He was almost invisible at night as he rode the ranges, stealing cattle and robbing travelers. Max Meyer, Cheyenne, Wyo., merchant, said the phantom was a member of the gang of "Big Jim" Averill and "Cattle Kate," who were hanged by vigilantes. Meyer recalled that the phantom escaped from a posse of vigilantes and was seen no more.

Buffalo Vernon, who called himself a son of Cattle Kate, was arrested three years ago for wrecking a train near Cheyenne and was turned over to California officers. He is now serving a sentence in California for robbery.

Downen's first criminal venture, so far as is known, was the robbery of a Wells-Fargo stage near San Jose, Cal. He was captured and sentenced to 21 years in prison. Two years later he escaped, was recaptured after a revolver fight and spent 10 more years in prison before his sentence was commuted.

Soon afterward a man and woman were shot in a robbery in a San Jose park. The man died. Downen was questioned, tried and again sentenced to prison.

In 1922 he was released and went to Wyoming, where he is supposed to have operated as the "Black Phantom" until 1925. Colorado next was troubled by a nocturnal marauder.

Then one night Joel Ashworth, traveling salesman, was shot to death in a robbery on the Sand Creek road, leading into Denver. Downen was arrested and convicted despite his plea that he was an honest laborer.

Workless Men Take Working Brides.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Many brides who work and bridegrooms who do not are reported by the clerk of the Queens County Marriage License Bureau. On the line following "occupation," the clerk said, many bridegrooms are writing "unemployed." On the other hand, the brides list themselves as school teachers, secretaries, factory workers or otherwise gainfully employed.

KIDNAPED WITNESS MURDERED

Body Found in Ditch, Hands Tied Behind Back.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—The body of Leonard Ingstrom, 27 years old, who was kidnaped Aug. 19, by three men in an automobile, was found yesterday, in a ditch near Hilldale, Ill., with his hands tied behind his back. Apparently he had been shot to death.

Ingstrom was the only prospective witness at a pending hearing of Miss Catherine Riccardi, who is accused of attacking her landlady, Mrs. Lena Rogers. Ingstrom lived at the Rogers home. Miss Riccardi was being sought.

STIMSON RETURNS FROM EUROPE AND VOICES OPTIMISM

Thinks Moratorium and Seven-Power Parley Laid Foundation for Peace and Prosperity.

FEELS ENCOURAGED BY FRIENDLY SPIRIT

U. S. Secretary of State Praises Informal Conferences of Statesmen as Way to Solve Problems.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Secretary of State Stimson returned from Europe today, optimistically predicting that a lasting structure of peace and economic prosperity would be built on the foundation laid by president Hoover's debt moratorium and the recent seven-Power conference in London.

During his two-month stay in Europe, Stimson attended the London conference and held "informal conversations" with the Prime Ministers of England, France, Germany and Italy.

Asked for his views about the general financial situation, Stimson replied: "I think there is now good reason to believe that European statesmen, taking advantage of the respite granted by Mr. Hoover's moratorium as well as the recommendations of the London conference, are beginning gradually to lay the foundations of political good will, on which a lasting structure of peace and economic prosperity can be built."

"The month which has elapsed since the close of the seven-Power conference in London has given us chance to begin to appraise the result of that conference and of the various meetings which have preceded and have followed it. "New Courage and Confidence."

"From the information which has come to me I believe that Germany has received a new spirit of courage and confidence. The result of the recent plebiscite in Prussia; the fact that on the day when the German banks reopened the deposits exceeded the withdrawals; together with many other similar indications, all point to more hopeful conditions and spirit."

"Even more encouraging have been the meetings of the French and German Ministers and the friendly and conciliatory spirit in which Prime Minister Laval and Chancellor Bruening have begun to discuss the vital political questions which divide their countries."

"The same is true of the meetings which have been held between the Ministers of Germany and Britain, and of Germany and Italy. Such informal meetings constitute the most effective method of approaching and discussing these political problems, and in they are thus approached in such spirit, any thorough economic rehabilitation of Central Europe is almost impossible."

"It was very evident in each of the countries I visited that the spirit and policy of the President's moratorium was highly appreciated and was proving helpful in many directions."

"Fulfilled Expectation."
Stimson said his trip abroad fulfilled his "highest expectations." He explained that when he sailed for Naples June 25 it was for the dual purpose of taking a rest and meeting foreign ministers whose posts were similar to his.

"I did not at the time have any special mission," he said. "I wished simply to get acquainted with ministers of foreign affairs so that I might talk informally with them."

FOR ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAYEngineers Prepare for Two-Dam Development and Washington Is Ready to Negotiate for Construction of Project.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Engineers of the United States have worked out plans for the development of the St. Lawrence waterway which call for two dams in the international section.With the two-dam system as a basis for agreement, it was said on high authority today that the United States is ready to proceed immediately with negotiations with Canada to push forward the project.
Canadian and American engineers heretofore have disagreed on the necessity for two dams, the Canadians holding out for two and the Americans maintaining that only one would be necessary.The impending return to Washington of Maj. W. D. Herridge, brother-in-law of Premier Bennett of Canada, and recently appointed Minister to the United States, has revived hope here for quick and definite action on the part of the Ottawa Government. Herridge is expected in Washington next week.Notes Exchanged Last Year.
The last formal exchange between the two Governments on the subject was on Sept. 2, 1930. The American Government in a note to Canada asked if the Bennett Government was prepared to make the project a reality. Only a bare acknowledge of that note came from

ADEN, Arabia, Sept. 2.—Mahathere at the entrance to the Red Sea today and made a brief visit ashore before resuming the voyage to London for the round table conference.A large crowd of Indians wearing Gandhi caps, who had waited since midnight, cheered as the steamer Rajputana steamed alongside the wharf in the dawn. Gandhi and the other delegates made short trips to points of interest. He received an enthusiastic reception wherever he went.Local Indian merchants wished him success at the conference and presented him a purse containing about $150. He had breakfast with the leading Indians of the town and re-embarked amid cheers.Asked what his program at the conference would be, Gandhi replied:"I shall strive for a constitution that will release India from all tyranny and patronage. I shall work for an India in which the poorest shall feel it is their country in whose making they have an effective voice; an India in which there shall be no high class and no low class of people; an India in which all communities shall live in perfect harmony.""There can be no place in such an India for the curse of untouch-ability or the curse of intoxicating

OF TROUBLE WITH MEXICAN STATESForeign Minister Wang Says Negotiations Have Failed and Relations Are Near Breaking Point.By the Associated Press.
NANKING, China, Sept. 3.—C. T.
Wang, Foreign Minister, said today relations with Mexico were strained
"to the breaking point" by the failure of negotiations on the anti-Chinese movement in Sonora and Sinaloa."Desirous of obtaining a satisfactory settlement," said Wang,
"China requested the American Government, which accepted, to arbitrate the present dispute in accordance with the international convention at the second conference at The Hague.""The American Government further consented to grant temporary residence in United States territory to Chinese nationals compelled to evacuate Sonora and Sinaloa in order to avoid untoward incidents."Wang outlined the growth of the anti-Chinese movement in Mexico since June, saying it was especially acute in Sonora and Sinaloa, where 90 to 95 per cent of the groceries are owned by Chinese. He said the situation was aggravated by the return to Mexico of thousands of Mexicans who had lost their jobs in the United States because of the depression.Assurances of Protection.
"Repeated representations," said Wang, "were made to the Mexican Government by Samuel S. Young, the Chinese Minister, resulting in many assurances from the Mexican President that adequate measures would be taken to protect Chinese residents.""During the negotiations the American Ambassador also was requested to exercise his good offices. However, neither the Federal Government of Mexico nor the Governors of the Mexican states have been able to arrest the development of anti-Chinese activities.""Negotiations having thus been frustrated by the unwillingness of the anti-Chinese elements, arrangements were made with the United States Government to permit Chinese residents of Mexico to reside temporarily in the United States in the event of the necessary evacuation of Mexico.""The Chinese Government has exercised much restraint over the situation and hopes a satisfactory settlement may yet result."Calamity rode into the Nanking

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight democracy, all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy, or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULTZER,

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Stork Falls Mr. Hoover.

MR. HOOVER doubtless is pained and grieved at the way New York has fallen down in helping work out its major project for restoration of prosperity. He announced the glorious "20-year plan" in his Indianapolis address—a masterpiece whereby the nation was to sit down and wait 20 years for better days. At the end of that epoch, Mr. Hoover promised, amid great applause, it would find itself with 20,000,000 more inhabitants, for whom it would have to build 4,000,000 new and better homes, thousands of factories, thousands of miles of highways and waterways, new parks, schools, colleges and churches, to grow 20 per cent more crops and so on. It would find in with so glamorous a prospect, but New York will have to be counted out. The Census Bureau, while announcing a nice gain in total population, shows that our largest metropolis in 1920 had 25,629 fewer children under 5 years of age than in 1920, a decline of 4 1/2 per cent. And since it is simply impossible for population to continue increasing when fewer babies are being born, New York apparently is not to share the glories scheduled for 1951.

However, New York is not alone in this subversive trend. Missouri's baby crop, for instance, fell off 12 1/2 per cent in the same decade. Nor is New York's decline a sudden development. The birth rate there has fallen from 16.04 per thousand in 1910 to 11.3 in 1929. Everywhere the same tendency is visible, leading our major statisticians to predict a stationary population by 1950, instead of the increasing growth Mr. Hoover prophesies.

The executive, however, is in distinguished company when he assumes that the country's population gain is to continue in future at the same rate as in the past. President Lincoln, in his December, 1862, message to Congress, also peered into the future and reached the astounding figure of 251,686,914 as the country's probable census total in 1950. He assumed that the average increase on 34.8 per cent for the country's first seven decades would go on. Instead, it fell to 21.5 per cent for the next seven decades, and by 1930 had dropped to 16.1, with a total of 127,755,045 inhabitants. Mr. Hoover went even further than Lincoln by assuming that his hypothetical 20,000,000 increase would automatically result in providing work for the additional citizens. In the light of our present economic setup, it might result merely in swelling the number of unemployed.

Mr. Brisbane's Slur.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I WANT to thank you for your editorial regarding Arthur Brisbane's comment on Senator Couzens' $1,000,000 contribution to Detroit's unemployment fund. Now if Mr. Brisbane will contribute his share we shall be glad to overlook his slur.

Burgoo vs. Barbecue.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IT'S burgoo brewing time down in Kentucky. If you are not sure what burgoo is, give a thought to barbecue time in Missouri and you have an idea as to the occasion, if not the ingredients. When the political pot begins to boil in the Bluegrass, so does the burgoo. For burgoo is that succulent stew served the assembled electorate gathered from far and near to hear the rallying call of the candidates for public office—and when they reach Kentucky, they rally! They are preparing now for the big turnout down at Winchester next week. Judge J. M. Benton, brewmaster, plans to produce 1500 gallons, and for this has ordered 750 pounds of beef, 144 hens, 25 bushels of corn, one bushel of rice, one bushel of okra, five pounds of red pepper pods and 98 cabbage. Put the meats together and boil for 12 hours, add the vegetables and brew for 6 more, and the answer is burgoo. A dash of liquid corn has been known to add zest to the concoction.

Not bad, not bad. But barbecue—now that's something. I don't mean a piece of pork turned on an electric spit or boiled and baked in a gas stove. I mean honest-to-goodness barbecue—huge hams and great slabs of ribs, slowly cooked over the smoldering embers of hickory coals in an open air pit. Done to a crisp but, under the crust, a melting tenderness defying description. And if you are of a mind and have been educated to it, a dash of hot stuff—if you are down Cairo way never detile that secret mixture of the old plantation Negro by asking for "sauce."

That's barbecue meat, the kind served when Missouri voters rally. Let Kentucky have its burgoo. G. C.

Liked Editorial and Cartoon.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
MAY I have the privilege of commenting upon your fine editorial of Aug. 27 regarding the Briand-Kellogg pact? It was outstanding for its clearness, logic and above all, fairness and honesty. And Mr. Fitzpatrick's cartoon, entitled "Three Years Old," was simply splendid. I believe Mr. Fitzpatrick does as much (if not more) than any one in the United States for the cause of peace and international understanding. Many happy returns to the Post-Dispatch for its cartoons and editorials.

GOV. CAULFIELD'S COUNSEL.

Gov. Caulfield's address at the State Fair, reprinted elsewhere on this page, is a studious paper, reflecting the honest judgment of a man who, in his official position, has been privileged to observe our public affairs from a point of unique vantage. We are doing some things well. He mentions our provisions for education and the public health and our management of the great enterprise of road building as highly meritorious. In those respects, he says, we have realized and met our responsibilities. And he does not shrink from telling us where we have failed. As regards the penitentiary, he tells us, "the situation is becoming desperate." Most of us doubtless are aware of that fact. There are now 4000 inmates in a building designed to house 2600. It is unnecessary to dwell upon the consequences of such congestion. The condition is a reproach to the State. It must be remedied. Relief cannot be postponed. Our insane asylums are also overcrowded.

The correction of those conditions, the Governor assures us, "is not a matter of increasing taxation; it is rather a matter of seeing to it that a fair share of the general revenue is applied to this purpose." That can be done. The Governor tells us how it can be done. He proposes a budget system, "made mandatory by the Constitution," under which expenses can be kept within our income and excessive appropriations avoided. Then we must reorganize our system of government. The present arrangement of six elective State officers, each independent of the others, is archaic. Modern opinion, arrived at by costly experience, condemns it as inefficient. Mr. Caulfield believes the Governor should have control under the Constitution commensurate with his responsibility, and recommends an amendment vesting that authority in the executive.

The numerous boards and commissions created by the expanding activities of the State have failed, on the whole, to meet public expectation. Under the appointing method designed to secure them from political influence, they have acquired a status which not only removes them from control of the Governor, but, in a degree, makes them "independent of the people." In a word, these boards and commissions have developed into a bureaucracy, which, in the words of Senator Borah, in describing the labyrinth at Washington, is "the worst form of government yet devised."

Economy in public affairs, always a virtue, and now a necessity, and fixed responsibility, together with the requisite authority that should accompany responsibility—that is the program Mr. Caulfield outlines. His diagnosis of our troubles is not new, neither is his cure. But he speaks with the knowledge gained in carrying responsibility without the proper measure of authority. Pending the fundamental changes he advises the people to elect men to office "who look through the eyes of the taxpayer, not through the eyes of the tax-eater." Good counsel. The Governor's address ought to be read and pondered by all the people. But in the end we arrive at the inescapable truth that if democracy is to function capably the people have got to do their part. Citizens have got to take their duties of citizenship seriously and discharge them faithfully.

So long as the majority of us vote a party label, we shall have the extravagance and incompetence of party label government.

POLITYANNA FESS.

A cheerful, sprightly soul is Senator Fess, an inveterate hymn singer of Republican prosperity. So when he met Old Man Depression the other day in the form of a cold-hearted banker, it was as though Jack Dempsey had swung his left at a bluebird. It was a little matter of $6000 that the Senator wanted to borrow for the purpose of building a home. The banker threw up his hands and said, "Oh, Senator, we cannot make any loans at present. While we are sound, we must remain in a liquid condition."

The Senator, however, has recovered nicely. In a letter to a constituent, he explains it all. It is true we have a depression, he says, it is purely psychological. All we need is "confidence." Let Secretary Mellon "confide" and the red ink on the Treasury books will turn to a beautiful yellow. Let the captains of our great corporations "confide" and factory doors will be open, orders will pour in and dividends will be resumed. Let the consumer "confide" and his purchases will stimulate production. Let the unemployed "confide" and he will have a job. Such is Senator Fess' prescription for our ills.

Pollyanna was just an old grouch compared with the gentleman from Ohio.

CLARIFYING OUR POSITION.

We have been asked to explain why we oppose the operation of the Madison Kennel Club and fail to take the same position with regard to the Fairmount Jockey Club. The answer is that the one is an out-law gambling enterprise and the other is authorized and regulated by law. We recognize that gambling is inherent in human nature and cannot be stamped out by law; therefore, the law should take cognizance of it and surround it with such limitations as to protect public interest and serve public order.

The consequences of out-law gambling inevitably are inimical to the good of the state. It can exist only by subterfuge of public officials, who thereby violate their oaths of office and bring public service into disrepute. The inference is—and it is an inference supported by many proved cases—that public officials who permit out-law gambling receive either outright bribes or, by political and personal pressure, are otherwise induced to wink at law violation. Out-law gambling always attracts gunmen, gangsters and other vicious characters, whose rough and ready services are ever in demand to protect so precarious an enterprise.

In the last few years, out-law gambling rose to the status of a large industry in the neighborhood of St. Louis, particularly in Madison County. It ranges from small craps games and handbook joints to such elaborate casinos as the Mounds and Biltmore clubs, and to the immensely profitable dog tracks. The depression, however, has put a severe crimp into the industry. The Mounds Club is closed, as is the Kingshighway Kennel Club, and the Madison Club, until the recent opening, held only six days of racing this summer. Numerous bombings, murders and other crimes are directly attributable to the operation of these joints, and they have proved themselves a public menace. If it had not been for the depression the situation would have been far worse.

The cities of Europe where gambling is lawful and conducted in casinos owned publicly owned and strictly regulated, have no such grief with gambling as we experience. European gambling is not operated by and for hoodlums, nor is it necessary for operators to plant machine gunners and pistol toters at strategic places to protect gambling places from rival gangsters. That is an object lesson which the United States has thus far refused to learn. In this country, we insist upon being pure on the statute books, although in practice we are just like everyone else. When, under the shadow of this hypocrisy, out-law gambling spreads corruption and violence, we are reaping the fruits of refusal to face realities.

PRIVATE INITIATIVE VS. PUBLIC WORKS.

Only a vast program of expanding public works can forestall still further liquidation in wages and prices during the coming winter, in the opinion of Dr. Leo Wolman, professor of economics at Columbia University and economist for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. "I believe the time has come," he says, "to take some aggressive action to halt the slump. At this time, the only way open is through the flotation of Government bonds, the proceeds of which should be devoted to public works. In this way the Government can take up part of the slack of unemployment, create a legitimate demand for materials and supplies and furnish a substantial impetus to the resumption of normal business activity."

With the administration's policy of encouraging the maintenance of wage rates, Dr. Wolman is in thorough sympathy. But he recognizes that the preservation of nominal wage rates is not an effective means of building up consumer purchasing power during a major depression. Nominal wages have been widely preserved. But part-time employment, shortened hours and general layoffs have made serious inroads on labor income.

The index number of employment, computed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, had fallen from 100 in 1926 to 72 in June, 1931; that for payroll totals from 100 in 1926 to 62 in June, 1931. In the face of continuing overhead costs, slender and dwindling demand for his products and falling prices, the average manufacturer will find himself unable to maintain the old rate of wages. Further wage cuts in the coming fall and winter, therefore, seem inevitable. Despite the pious desire of the administration and the efforts of many leaders of business to keep wages up, liquidation has already gone further than our ablest economists expected it to go when the market crashed in 1929. It can be allowed to sink to even lower levels during the coming months, or its progress can be arrested by the means which Dr. Wolman suggests.

Meanwhile Mr. Hoover's public building program is not a drop in the bucket. He proposes to relieve the situation by a vast system of hand-outs to the unemployed and their families when the country owes them work.

He said in his speech at Indianapolis months ago that "nothing can be gained in the recovery of employment by detouring capital away from industry and commerce into the Treasury of the United States, either by taxes or loans, on the assumption that the Government can create more employment by use of these funds than can industry and commerce itself." In a day when factories are standing idle and when millions of savings go begging for borrowers, this familiar dogma about "detouring capital away from industry and commerce" seems strikingly anachronistic. Effective public action is now the only hope, in the judgment of many economists, but it runs counter to the Hoover creed. The administration, apparently, would rather weather a third winter of depression based on private initiative than a winter of recovery induced by Federal activity.

The Government of New Zealand is stopped by no such impediment. It is planning a vast program of highway and land development work, and it has adopted a novel method of testing its efficacy. All unemployed single men will first be drafted upon a war-time basis and provided with food, shelter and spending money while they are in the Government construction camps. If the plan is found satisfactory it will be extended to all the unemployed men in New Zealand. Having overdrawn its relief funds by some $1,120,000, the Unemployment Board has decided to divert future expenditures into productive channels.

A SOCK IN THE EYE.

Three cheers and a tiger! There never was a more inane pronunciation fad, anyway. We refer, of course, to "glad-eye-olus," with the accent on the "eye." From Cleveland comes word that all the experts at the National Gladious Show accented the "o," making it "glad-ee-olus," just as everybody hereabouts said it until led astray by the upstage amateurs. Nobody ever deserved repudiation any more than these highbrow reformers and they got it where they had it coming—right in the eye.

Sir Hubert Wilkins has found a layer of warm water between two layers of cold in the Arctic, which perhaps explains the terrible heat of Los Angeles and the rapturously balmy temperature of St. Louis.

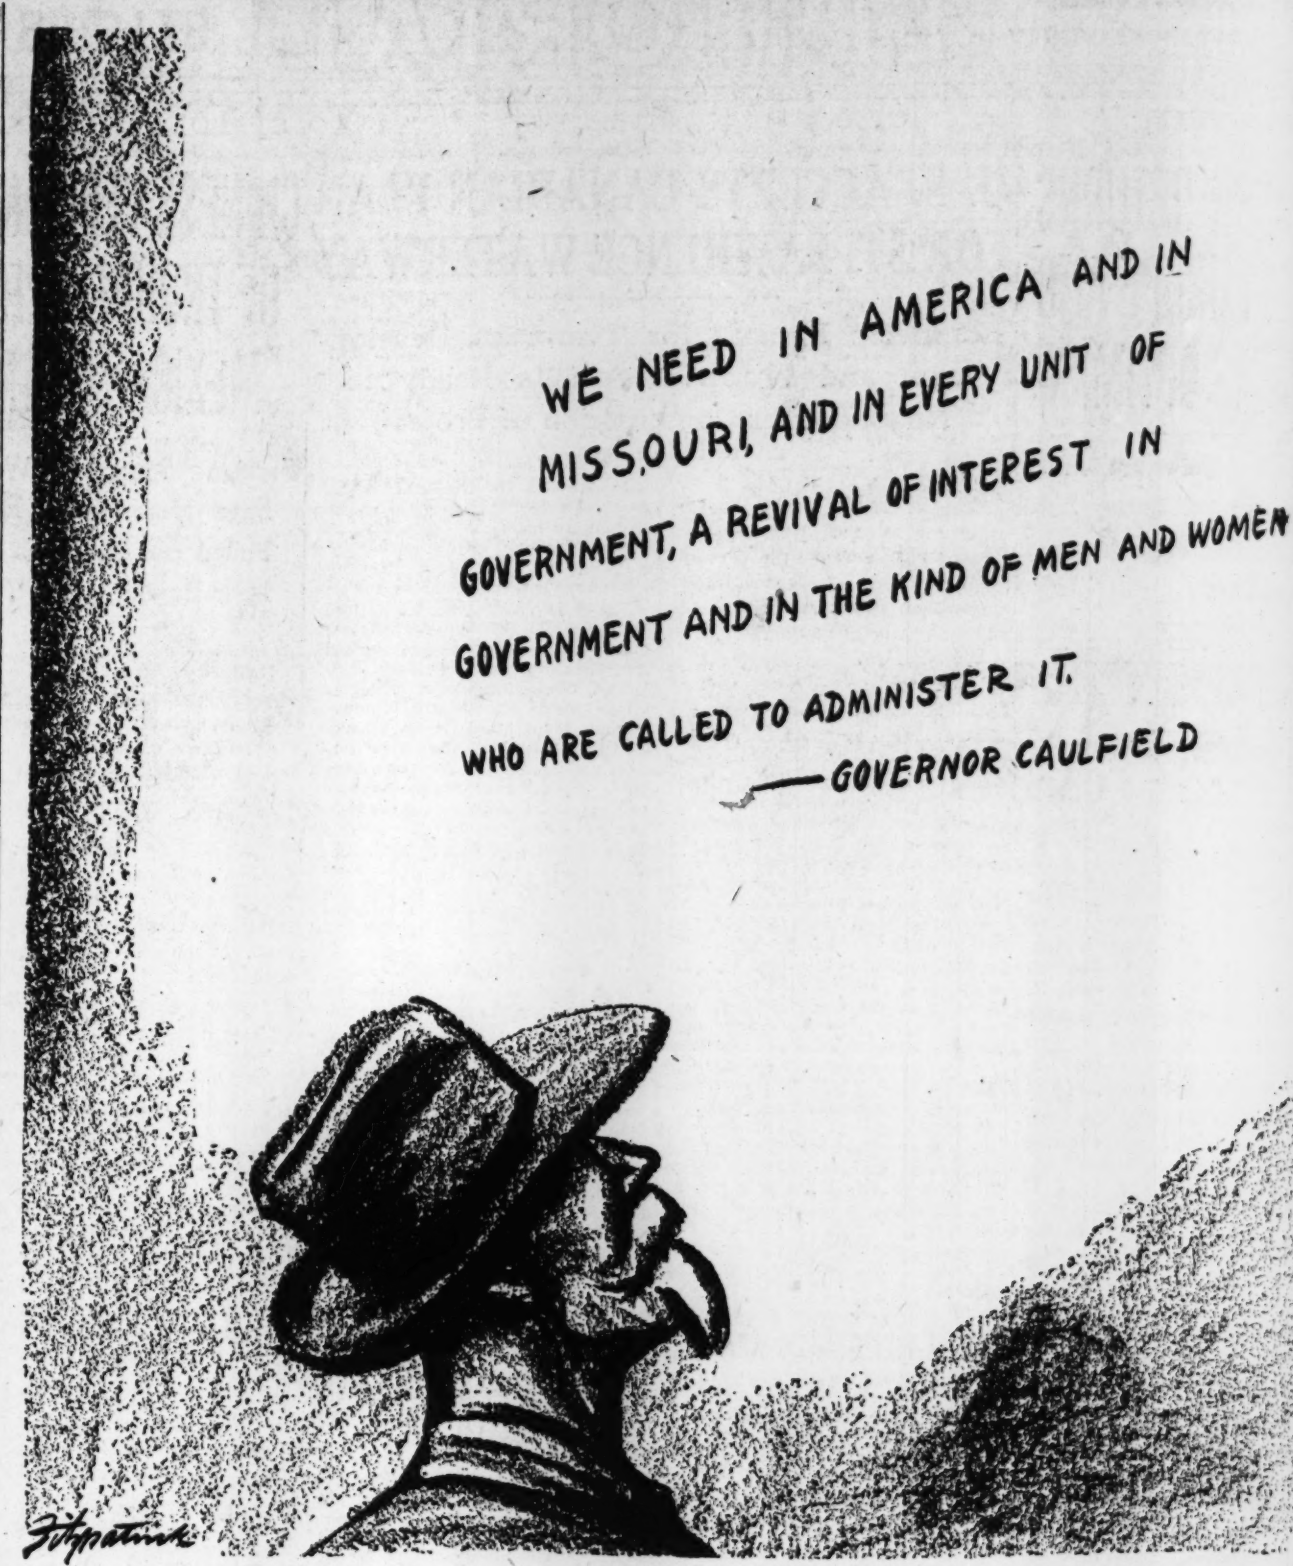

LOOK OUT FOR THE STICK!

It will not surprise anybody to learn that the Republican political leaders of St. Louis are chary of Charlie Becker's boom for the Republican nomination for Governor next year and that it has not yet mustered hereabouts a corporal's guard.

Mayor Miller, who was reputed to have set his cap for the United States Senate in a coalition with Becker, now says he is not for anybody and is undecided what office he will run for next. It may be the Mayorality, which displays added charms in the shadow of the Caulfield senatorial boom. "I always do well here," His Honor has said in appraisal of himself as a political entry, and he may decide to let do well do.

The Becker boom has turned out as might have been expected. To carry Missouri next year the Republicans will have to present strong candidates. They are not likely to enter the race with the Becker-Brunk-Shartel outfit on their backs, not if they know their Arabian Nights and recall where Sindbad got with the Old Man of the Sea on his back. The Republican organization in St. Louis, albeit there is a Republican stronghold, is keenly aware that the Democrats are likely to be dangerous adversaries next year. It is said in New York that the mere thought of Gov. Franklin Roosevelt causes a Republican politician to go weak in the knees, and he is hardly less of a bantane to Republican politicians as far away as St. Louis. It is at any rate no time for birdshot.

As we understand it, Missouri and Illinois hunters have about as much use for Mr. Hoover's short duck season as Senator Norris has for the lame duck season.

SOMETHING FOR MISSOURI TO THINK ABOUT.

Missouri's Most Urgent Needs

Gov. Caulfield, praising the State's achievements, calls attention to its failure to provide adequately for its eleemosynary wards and the menace of overcrowding penal institutions; next General Assembly must see to this; Government economies necessary to meet the emergency; form of State government should be modernized.

Gov. Caulfield in an address at the State Fair.

I WISH that we could have here a display of all of Missouri's achievements. I wish that I could present to you a picture of the needs and accomplishments of Missouri's Government. Mere words cannot describe your Government and its various functions, any more than they could convey to you an adequate description of this fair, with its splendid exhibits.

We and our fathers have seen Missouri grow from a thinly populated frontier State, to a mighty commonwealth, a community of more than three and a half million souls. She now stands tenth among all the states in population, and ranks high in the wealth of her natural resources. During the period of her statehood there has been a miraculous development in the mode of transportation, in communication, in standards of living, in industry, and in agriculture. In all this Missouri has had a useful part. The history of the nation is replete with the achievements of Missouri's sons and daughters, on the battlefield, in statesmanship, in literature, in art, in education, in agriculture, and in the arts of trade and commerce. Missouri has furnished many of the leaders of a mighty and intelligent people. Her men and women have been largely instrumental in making America today the richest, strongest, and most idealistic nation in the world.

With such a growth in population, with these mighty revolutions in the arts and sciences, and in the manners and customs of the people, it is necessarily true that the demands upon the State Government should have increased and multiplied and that the functions of State Government should have likewise expanded to meet the demands of advancing civilization.

The development of a complex social and industrial system has necessitated the extension of the functions of the State to the maintenance of institutions for the insane and the afflicted, and for law violators. Of these classes there are some 15,000 in direct charge of the State. It is interesting to note that this is more than 10 per cent of what was the entire population of the State a hundred years ago.

The State contributes to the maintenance of a vast educational system, including the grade and high schools, and various great institutions of higher and special education, including the State University, five State Teachers' Colleges, and schools for the blind and the deaf.

It maintains homes for old soldiers, and for those suffering from tuberculosis, finds homes for dependent children, and regulates public utilities; it is building and maintaining a mighty system of highways; it supervises sanitary conditions, and prevents disease; it supervises financial institutions, the working condition in factories, and the marketing of farm products; it contributes greatly to the development and improvement of agriculture, and even makes provision for recreational facilities.

We may well be proud of the service our State has rendered and is rendering in all the many activities into which it has entered.

We have made tremendous strides in education, and our people have responded generously to that great cause. At least 70 per cent of the State's general revenues were expended in the year 1930 for education; and the last General Assembly made provisions whereby it is hoped that every child in Missouri shall be assured at least eight months' schooling in any year.

Our highway building program is a gigantic one, and is rapidly nearing completion. By 1937 Missouri will have expended for State highway construction the enormous sum of $271,000,000.

The other agencies of State Government are functioning efficiently, meeting the ever-increasing demands made upon them.

But while we feel a just pride in our great and beautiful State, and in our institutions and Government, it is well for us to remember that eternal vigilance is the price of good government as well as of liberty.

The changing times, the increasing population, bring ever changing conditions. What was sufficient for the need of a quarter of a century ago may be wholly inadequate and unsuitable today. This is true of institutions; it is true of the form of our Government.

Missouri has shown at her best in the cause of education, of health, of highway building. In these and many other things the men and women of this modern day have fully realized their responsibilities.

But in those age-old functions of society, the housing of the insane, and of the law violator, we have not done so well; we have not maintained a standard in keeping with the general growth and progress of the State, nor with the advance made in other State activities.

Our penal and eleemosynary institutions are well managed, and the fine spirit displayed in the care of the unfortunate committed to them is very gratifying. But it is becoming rapidly apparent that some provision must soon be made for meeting the need of more room. The penitentiary and insane asylums are very much overcrowded. The penitentiary, originally constructed to house about 2600, now has within its walls over 4000. The situation is becoming desperate. I hope that relieving it will be recognized as a paramount duty by the next General Assembly. It is not a matter of increasing taxation to meet this emergency; it is rather a matter of seeing to it that a fair share of the general revenue is applied to this purpose, rather than being diverted to increasing other activities which are highly meritorious, but, in the very nature of things, are not so urgent.

So, too, Missouri should look seriously to her form of government, with a view not only to making it more efficient, but also to effect economies. The many activities of our Government, constantly expanding, are demanding more and more money, and this must be found either by increasing the tax burden of the people, or by making economies in administration. With an ever-increasing revenue, such as the State has had in the last 10 years, the need for economy was not so apparent, nor so pressing. But with the very apparent drop in tax revenues for the years 1931 and 1932, the need for a drastic curtailing of expendi-

Killing Righteously

From the Cleveland Press.

THOMAS F. HIGGINBOTHAM, the new items say, is a tall and stern-faced man. He is an elder in a church. He named his eldest son David. He reared his family according to his notion of a righteous upbringing. He is in jail now because he killed the son named David.

"I did it," he says, "because David was a bootlegger. For years I have been an enemy against bootleggers. I am sure I have done what was right before God."

We have a suggestion to make to Thomas F. Higginbotham, the man who feels that Providence wanted him to kill his son. We suggest that he open his Bible and read the 10 commandments. Let him see whether he can find one which says, "Thou shalt not kill." Let him see whether he can find one which says, "Thou shalt not sell liquor."

By all the agencies of government, it is very obvious. Missouri needs an executive budget system made mandatory by the Constitution so that expenses of government may be controlled, and appropriations in excess of the expected revenue may be avoided. It is a change in our Constitution which will give the Governor a control commensurate with his responsibility. The present system of distributing the powers of the State Government among six elective State officers, each of whom is independent of the others, is not in accord with modern opinion and the most efficient form of government.

Nor is the situation helped any by the practice of creating boards and bureaus which overlap, in terms of service, the Governor's term of office, thus substantially depriving him of control, even over departments as to which he is given nominal charge. The excuse for this practice is that it prohibits the injection of politics into the control of the institutions, presided over by these boards and bureaus. The result, however, is that these boards and bureaus are made independent of the people. The Governor may be changed, but these boards remain on. I believe that the best way to attain efficiency and economy in government is to make it easy, not hard, for the people to change their public servants; to make it easy, and not difficult, for the people to place responsibility for extravagance and inefficiency.

We also have very much of duplication in our government which would be avoided with a consequent saving. If a careful study were made of our Government, and the necessary changes made in the laws.

I repeat, that, with the government becoming more complex and with the people groaning under the burden of taxation, we should look more and more to our system of government, to the end that it be made more efficient, and waste and extravagance be avoided.

In the meantime, a partial remedy is ready at our hand. It is to elect to public office only men who look through the eyes of the taxpayer, and not through the eyes of the tax-eater. Men should be elected to office who are of the best of our citizenship. We need, in America and in Missouri, and in every unit of government, a revival of interest in government and in the kind of men and women who are called to administer it. Government is the most important of functions. It involves law and order, the health, welfare and prosperity of our people. None but the best of our citizens should be called to places of power and trust in the people's government. This is necessary if our government is to endure.

WE NEED IN AMERICA AND IN MISSOURI, AND IN EVERY UNIT OF GOVERNMENT, A REVIVAL OF INTEREST IN GOVERNMENT AND IN THE KIND OF MEN AND WOMEN WHO ARE CALLED TO ADMINISTER IT.

CHAIRMAN FOR PARTY

MISS JANE BOND, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bond, 6233 Waterman avenue, will make her debut at a dinner dance to be given Friday night, Nov. 27, at the St. Louis Women's Club.

Mrs. Bond and her daughter, and Miss Marjorie Capen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bond Capen, returned recently from Europe where they have been traveling since the close of the term at the Bellevue school at Tours, France. Miss Capen also will make her debut this fall.

Miss Cornelia Scott, 5354 Delmar boulevard, is visiting her brother, George E. Scott, in Lake Forest, Ill., following their return from Coleman Lake, Wis., where they attended a house party given by Mr. Scott at the fishing club there. The guests included Mrs. Lee Pett Warren of Washington, formerly Miss Stella Wade of St. Louis, who has returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Whipple Van Ness Jones, who were married last week, have gone to Honolulu on their wedding trip. They will return at the end of September and will live in Cambridge, Mass., next winter.

Mrs. Jones was Miss Mary Sue McCulloch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCulloch of 4384 Westminster place and Oconomowoc, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Niedringhaus Jr., 4648 Maryland avenue, with their two children, and Mrs. Niedringhaus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin McKee, 4595 Hortense place, are expected home today from Harbor Point, Mich., where they have been guests for the summer at the Harbor Point clubhouse.

Dr. and Mrs. Elsworth S. Smith, 4502 Maryland avenue, are expected home about Sept. 10 from Pointe-Aux-Barques, Mich., where they have a summer home. Their daughter, Mrs. Lannan Benoit, who has been visiting them, has returned, and another daughter, Mrs. William King Gardner of the Ladue road, who with her children, also occupy a cottage at Pointe-Aux-Barques, is expected home in 10 days. Mr. Gardner has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lackland Taylor, 4607 Maryland avenue, with their daughter, Miss Dorcas Carr Taylor, and their son, Ned, have been at their cottage at Pointe-Aux-Barques, after spending the early season at Mackinac Island, Mich. They will return later this month. Another daughter, Miss Marie Carr Taylor, is in St. Louis after spending the summer as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wooster Lambert of the St. Louis Country Club at Provincetown, Mass., where they were members of the art colony, and is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Carpenter, until the return of her family. Their son, Clarkson Carpenter Jr., who has been visiting Dr. and Mrs. Smith in Michigan, returned several days ago with McDougal Smith, and will enter the University of Virginia Sept. 16.

Mrs. Lambert sailed yesterday for a brief trip abroad. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. William Gillespie Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. David D. Walker Jr. of Clayton have returned from Coleman Lake, Wis., where they spent the season.

Mrs. H. Hayward Niedringhaus of the St. Louis Country Club grounds and her daughter, Joan, will return the last of the month.

LADY ASTOR SAYS SHE ISN'T AND WON'T BE A COMMUNIST

Replies to Attacks Based on Visit to Russia, Reassuring Conservative Constituency.

PLYMOUTH, England, Sept. 3.—Lady Astor, returned to her home here in connection with her recent visit to Russia, has written to W. L. Munday, chairman of the Conservative organization in her constituency, asking him to inform her supporters that she is not joined and is not joining the Communist party.

"Certain known people utilize every chance of either using me to air their pet aversions or using their pet aversions to injure me," she wrote. "On this occasion they either have taken the opinions of Mr. Bernard Shaw to try and discredit me, or they have seized upon inaccurate reports and statements supposed to have been made by me in Russia."

FUNERAL OF NICHOLAS M. BELL

Services at Scottish Rite Cathedral; Daughter Arrives Home.

The funeral of Nicholas M. Bell, at Scottish Rite Cathedral this afternoon was attended by many friends of the veteran Democratic politician and tobacco manufacturer. Anchor Lodge of Masons conducted the funeral, and surviving members of the board of directors of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition were honorary pallbearers.

Mr. Bell's daughter, Mrs. Richard E. Hinrichs, 7207 Amherst avenue, University City was on an automobile tour at the time of his death Monday, and attempts to communicate with her were unsuccessful, although a radio broadcast was one of the means used. She arrived at the home, 4442 West Pine boulevard, last night, and learned from her brother, Christian Peter Bell, of her father's death.

NO LABOR DAY PARADE OR DEMONSTRATION HERE

Unions Decided in 1933 Men Preferred Recreation to Marching Streets.

There will be no demonstration here by organized labor on Labor day, next Monday.

Labor day parades were discontinued in St. Louis in 1923, when it was explained that the working man preferred motoring to the country with his family or lounging at home to marching several miles over hard pavements. The subject of a demonstration was not even broached this year, according to David Kreyling, veteran secretary of the Central Trades and Labor Union and former grand marshal of Labor day parades.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Jamison, 6105 Lindell boulevard, with their daughter, Miss Elizabeth, and their son, Paul Bailey Jr., returned home Tuesday night from their summer trip. They motored to Asheville, N. C., where their son attended Camp Carolina. They spent the season at Wentworth-by-the-Sea, Portsmouth, N. H., where their son joined them two weeks ago.

Mrs. James G. Cahill, 4475 Lindell boulevard, with her daughter, Miss Lenore and Mrs. J. B. Sullivan of the Netherby Hall apartments and Mrs. Sullivan's son and daughter, are expected home Saturday from Narragansett Pier, R. I., where they have occupied a cottage on ocean road since early summer.

Dr. and Mrs. George R. Dodson, 210 Skinner boulevard, have returned to St. Louis after spending the summer in California. They visited Glacier National Park on their way home.

Dr. Dodson will resume services at the Church of the Unity Sunday, Sept. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Sensenbrenner, 7311 Westmoreland drive, and their daughter, Miss Jane, will return home today from a tour of the East and Canada. They visited their daughter, Mrs. Louis Newman at her home in Swampscott, Mass.

CIVIC BODIES TO ASSIST IN WORK OF CLOTHING WEEK

Boy Scouts and Parent Teacher Associations to Take Part in Collection of Garments.

Civic organizations are preparing to assist the Clothing Bureau of Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment in its campaign for contributions which begins Sunday. The bureau, anticipating it will need 200,000 garments next winter, has designated next week as clothing week, and will make a special appeal in behalf of the needy.

Boy scouts and members of the Parent-Teacher Association will assist at neighborhood theaters Sept. 12, when benefit matinee performances will be given. At 43 theaters the price of admission will be a bundle of old clothes. Members of the Parent-Teacher Association will serve as hostesses, and boy scouts will collect and pile the bundles. Park Department trucks will collect them.

Contributions may be taken to the Clothing Bureau at 1212 Pine street, or will be called for if donors telephone to Central 2365.

NATIONAL AUDUBON SOCIETIES APPROVED BY INVESTIGATORS

Committee Questions Motives of Group That Criticized Work of Societies.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A committee appointed to investigate the National Association of Audubon Societies last night made public a report praising the organization and questioning the motives of the "Emergency Conservation Committee" which criticized its work.

The association, formed for wildlife preservation, had been accused of "purposes and practices entirely foreign" to its nature. Some of its members had been charged with game slaughter.

Charges against the association and its president, Dr. T. Gilbert Pearson, were contained in pamphlets widely circulated.

After detailing its examinations into the status of the signers of the pamphlets and the writings, the committee reported: "We feel that the society may be proud of a great record and that such trifling missteps as have possibly been made from time to time are due to the inevitable frailties of mere men."

It denied statements that Pearson co-operated with the game killers and added: "It is not worth while to attempt to analyze or discuss the charges made," since "they are not worth the time it would take."

COURTENAY DEKALB, MINING ENGINEER DIES AT TUSCON

Succumbs to Stroke at Age of 69; Once Taught at the University of Missouri.

By the Associated Press.

TUSCON, Ariz., Sept. 3.—Courtney DeKalb, 63 years old, internationally known mining engineer of New York and Tucson, died here last night of an apoplectic stroke. He was noted for his research work in remote regions of South America, Mexico, Spain and Morocco. He investigated the mineral resources of "paleo and morocco" as a trade commissioner for the United States Department of Commerce.

DeKalb taught mining engineering many years ago at the University of Missouri and the University of Alabama, and lectured in 1925 at DePaul University. He married Miss Frances Douglas of Cornwall, Conn., here in 1913. She survives.

"Noodles" Fagan, Clown, Dies. By the Associated Press.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 3.—Lawrence Clinton (Noodles) Fagan, 51 years old, vaudeville entertainer for 33 years, died Tuesday night in Maroon, France, a victim of typhoid fever. The name Noodles was given him when he was a newsboy on the Tammany Hall corner in New York and carried noodle soup from a nearby restaurant to Boss Tweed and Dick Croker. He was a clown with the Barnum & Bailey and other circuses.

ROME'S PEACE-MAKER
OBSCURE JESUIT PRIEST

Father Venturi Credited With Negotiating Latest Pact of Pope and Mussolini.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Sept. 3.—An obscure Jesuit scholar who holds the confidence of both Premier Mussolini and Pope Pius XI is the principal peace-maker between the Catholic church and the Italian state. He is father Pietro Tacchi Venturi, 55 years old, born in Rome, and is chiefly responsible for the agreement just reached on the Catholic Action controversy.

For weeks Father Venturi has been going from Premier Mussolini in the Palazzo Venezia to Pope Pius in the Vatican, carrying offers and counter offers, objections and acceptances, until the accord was chiseled out, word by word, sentence by sentence. Some times his audiences with one or the other lasted three hours.

A simple priest without ecclesiastical rank other than that of his priesthood, Father Venturi is noted within his order as a historian. Six years ago he narrowly escaped assassination because of his position as negotiator in preliminary exchanges between Mussolini and the pontiff.

A man entered his study in a Jesuit church and stabbed him in the neck, the weapon breaking off in the wound. Father Venturi fell and feigned death. The assailant fled.

The priest pulled the piece of dagger from his neck, staunching the wound with a handkerchief and took a taxicab to a hospital, where the wound was pronounced superficial.

Father Venturi has known Mussolini personally for many years.
He became a negotiator between the Premier and the Pope the first time when the Government acquired the Chigi Palace, where until last year the Premier had his office.

The Pope then was worried about the fate of the famous library in the palace. He wanted to purchase it for the Vatican. Hearing that the priest knew Mussolini well, the Pope asked him to undertake the purchase. Mussolini said: "I won't sell the Chigi Library to the Pope, but I will give it to him."

Since the fortunate outcome of that mission, Pope Pius has used Father Venturi whenever it became necessary to deal directly with the Premier.

Actual negotiation of the Lateran
Treaty was carried on by Cardinal Facelli, Papal Secretary of State.
But Father Venturi negotiated with Dino Grandi, now Italian Foreign Minister.

For years Father Venturi was Secretary-General of the Curia of the Society of Jesus. For some time he has been working on a history of the Jesuit order in Italy. Three volumes have been published. His religious history of Italy in the sixteenth century won the Rezzini prize of the Crusca Academy in 1908. He also wrote a life of the Jesuit Cardinal Bellarmine, who was canonized last year.

MIDSHIPMEN OUSTED FOR FIGHTING COPENHAGEN POLICE

Two Missouri Youths Among Four Dismissed for Escapes on Cruise.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Four first-class midshipmen at the Annapolis Naval Academy have been forced to resign because of escapades in foreign ports during the recent annual summer cruise. Secretary Adams of the Navy said the resignations were demanded because of "unfortunate behavior" of the midshipmen, who are reported to have engaged Copenhagen's police in street fighting.

The ousted men were John R.
Parks, Columbia, Mo.; George R.
Fink, Haddon, N. J.; Earl S.
Schweitzer, McKeesport, Pa., and Colwell E. Beers, Keyville, Mo. A fifth student may be asked to resign. Several other midshipmen, less involved in the affair, were punished at the academy. Adams did not divulge their names.

The conduct of the midshipmen was reported by Rear Admiral Claude C. Bloch, commander of two battleships taking 900 naval students to Europe, to Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, academy superintendent. Hart recommended their dismissal after hearing the midshipmen's statements in their own behalf.

Although in cases of outright dismissal of military and naval officers, executive ratification is necessary, this regulation does not apply to those cases wherein the resignations were forced.

ONE OF EIGHT HELD IN RAID IDENTIFIED AS HOLDUP MAN

Victims of Recent Robberies Summoned to Sheriff's Office at Clayton to View Prisoners.
One of eight men arrested in a raid on a house at 6430 Chatham avenue, Weston, early yesterday, was identified as a holdup man last night. He denied the charge.
Victims of other recent robberies have been summoned to the Sheriff's office at Clayton to view the other prisoners.

Two revolvers and an automatic pistol were found hidden in the house.

AIRPLANE RUNNING LIQUOR FROM CANADA IS CAPTURED

By the Associated Press.
LOCKPORT, N. Y., Sept. 3.—
United States border patrolmen yesterday after throwing two or three gas bombs, captured an airplane which landed in a field here with a cargo of contraband liquor from Canada. Three men were arrested. One was said to be the pilot. The other two comprised the crew which was to have unloaded the plane.
Fred A. Bradley, customs collector, said two of his men first seized a liquor-running automobile and drove to the Becker Flying Field. As they drove onto the field an airplane landed alongside the car and the pilot tossed out a sack of ale.
The two patrolmen drew out

8,000,000 motorists—the tire industry's largest independent testing laboratory—the research department of a great university—all tell us ALLSTATE is one of the world's best tires. Best because it's made best. Designed by leading tire engineers. Manufactured by America's foremost tire maker.

Plies—the foundation of the tire
—are full plies in ALLSTATE.
They are made of "super-elastic" fabric, and they extend uniformly from head to head. In addition, ALLSTATE has a breaker strip under the tread, to help absorb and distribute road shocks. This breaker strip is double-woven—the best type the tire industry has developed.

Check the 12 points in the impartial laboratory* test on the right. See for yourself the facts about plies by looking at actual cross sections in any Sears store. Then, the next time you buy tires, learn about tire value by buying ALLSTATE!

An Amazing Discovery
in Skin Whitening

That Whitens the Skin 4 or 5 Shades; Utterly Without the Use of a Harmful "Bleach"

By MARIE DAVANT

Acts In Many Cases Almost Overnight

FOR years women have sought a safe way to bleach the skin. Now, thanks to modern ways in research such a way has been found. A way that not only bleaches the skin to ivory whiteness, but that's utterly free of harmful bleaching elements.

You apply it tonight, just like cold cream. Tomorrow noticeable results are seen. In a few days your skin is marvelously white and clear. Imperfections gone, soft as a child's; wrinkles and blackheads have disappeared.

It is called Golden Peacock Bleach Creme... the discovery of a world famed laboratory devoted exclusively to skin whitening research. Some 20 eminent doctors, scientists and skin specialists worked in its development. 10 years were spent perfecting it. Over 1,000 formulae were tried before the right one was found.

Thus it marks a new era in modern beauty culture. And supplants entirely old-time methods. Its bleaching agent is one of the most potent healing agents known. One that virtually every doctor uses. Old-time bleaches depended too often for their results on irritant elements.

It makes a dark skin a needless folly for any woman to suffer—even for another day. Some 500,000 women now employ it. It is sold at all drug and department stores. And results unqualifiedly guaranteed, or money returned.

FRENCH PRESIDENT
SHUNS BODYGUARD

Wants to Be Able to Go About as He Pleases, 'Like President Hoover.'

By the Associated Press.

RAMBOUILLET, France, Sept. 3.—Paul Doumer, France's thoroughly republican President, intends to exercise a grandpa's privilege of calling on his grandchildren without a personal bodyguard.

He has so informed Premier Pierre Laval, who as Minister of the Interior is titular chief of the Secret Service. He also prefers to travel about France as he pleases, without escort or brass bands. Look at President Hoover, he said.

The septuagenarian President of France has one daughter, married to a country doctor, and another wedded to a civil servant in the provinces. So when he and Mme. Doumer want to visit them they just get into their automobile and go.

Permission from the Cabinet, constitutional guardian of the President, was not easy to get. But Doumer finally obtained it, after a bit of a struggle, at a meeting of the Council of Ministers.

"The President of the United States," he argued, "goes wherever he pleases on personal visits." In vain the assembled Ministers pleaded that they were responsible for his personal safety. President Doumer consented to notify the Interior Department, which has police under its direction, before starting out, but stipulated that no advance notice should be given to the newspapers.

Then he slipped out the back door of the Elysee Palace. The police were an hour learning that he had gone to lunch at the home of an old friend, Dr. Armaingault, who has a modest apartment in the Latin quarter.

Besides eluding the Secret Service men, Doumer is the despair of his Director of the Protocol, Beco de Fouquieres. In Paris, or in the towns surrounding this summer retreat, the President goes about in an old soft hat, baggy black clothes and easy footwear. De Fouquieres, who has been the sartorial conscience of four Presidents in the past 11 years, sighs for the days of Deschanel and Doumergue, who were always impeccably dressed—even to their pajamas.

RUSSIAN PURCHASES IN U. S.
FALL OFF AFTER GAIN IN JUNE

Shipments for July Less Than Half Preceding Month; Other Reports on Foreign Trade.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Russian purchases in America, which jumped 50 per cent in June, fell off again in July. The total for the latter month, $2,562,378, was less than half the June figure.

June shipments to the Soviet consisted largely of machine tools, agricultural implements and power house units needed in the industrialization of the country. During July this type of shipment was small. Russia took $12,618,056 worth of American goods in June, showing an increase for the first time in many months. The July total of $2,562,378, compared with $3,193,976 in July, 1930, and $5,805,642 for June of that year.

Far Eastern countries, including British India, China, Japan and the British city of Hongkong, increased their purchases in this country materially, the Far Eastern division of the department attributing the rise to the low price of American cotton. Switzerland also increased its purchases.

American buyers increased their purchases in Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Greece, Irish Free State, Sweden, Switzerland, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Brazil, British South Africa and Egypt.

The United Kingdom came within $113,000 of taking first place from Canada as the leading American market. The British purchased $22,564,029 worth of American goods, compared with $40,794,423 in July of last year, while Canada showed $22,676,645, compared with $24,993,977. Germany, which during July was in the midst of its economic difficulties, dropped its purchases to $8,826,252, as compared with $10,818,619 in June and $14,093,865 in July, 1930.

Latin American purchases here fell off about 50 per cent as compared with July of last year.

MAN'S REFERENCE IN CHECK
DEAL CAUSES HIS ARREST

Salesman Taken in Custody at Airport Accused of Giving Useless Drafts.

A man who says he is William Dowdett, 29 years old, a salesman, of Kalamazoo, Mich., is held by police on a charge of passing worthless checks.

He was arrested last night at Lambert-St. Louis Field, when he offered a check for an airplane sight-seeing flight, and gave as reference Fred H. Rengers, Webster Groves automobile dealer.

Rengers, who last Monday accepted a $150 check from the man as down payment on three automobiles purported to be for a concern, which Rengers found to be fictitious, asked that the man be held. August Ditt, salesman for a motor concern at 3900 West Pine boulevard, identified the prisoner as a man for whom he cashed two worthless checks for $25 this week. The prisoner told police that he was released two months ago from a Kalamazoo sanitarium. He has been living at 4469 Delmar boulevard under the name of Nelson, he said.

LIGHT PLANT VOTED, 6 TO 1 $80,000 Bond Issue Carries at Sullivan, Mo., Sept. 3.—A proposal for an $80,000 bond issue for the erection of a municipal electric plant, carried here Tuesday. The vote was 523 for and 86 against, or six to one.

The election followed a campaign by a group of citizens in behalf of the proposal, Daniel C. Rogers, city attorney of Fayette, and Daniel G. Pepper, manager of the Sikeston light plant, having been brought here as speakers.

3639 Bamberger avenue. In accordance with a stipulation Mrs. Linder would have custody of the children and alimony of $100 a month.

Mrs. Linder testified she and her husband agreed shortly after the separation to be divorced. "Oh," said Judge Green, "and so you just want me to O. K. it?" "Yes, Judge," was the reply. "We've just got to have a divorce."

WOMAN WEDS IN PAJAMAS

Bridesmaids Dressed Same Way at Seattle Ceremony.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 3.—Wearing eggshell satin pajamas, Miss Beatrice Langdon, Seattle, became the bride of Elton Hunter, Goble, Ore., last night. Miss Langdon's bridesmaids also wore pajamas, while the bridegroom, his best man and the ushers wore yellow tuxedos.

The divorce suit of Mrs. Vera Linder against Joseph A. Linder, lawyer and former detective sergeant, was taken under advisement by Circuit Judge Green today. Charging general indignities, Mrs. Linder asserted her husband, during the last five years, had failed to come home for dinner much of the time and had refused to tell where he had been. They were married in 1914 and separated July 18, last.

The Linders, who have three minor daughters, formerly lived at ditions have been generally favorable throughout the State for plowing wheat land since Aug. 1.

Court Takes Case Under Advisement After Statement by Mrs. Joseph A. Linder.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 3.—Winter wheat planting will be reduced 10 per cent this fall in Missouri if farmers carry out their present intentions as reported to E. A. Logan and Jewell Mayes of the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

These reports indicate that Missouri farmers intend to sow 1,252,000 acres of winter wheat this fall as compared with 1,392,000 acres sown a year ago.

The northwest, central and south central counties are not planning a reduction, but eastern counties show a sharp decrease from the 1930 seed acreage.

FINDS MAN'S PRIME LASTS FOR 20 YEARS

Public Health Service Says Strength Is at Best From 30 to 50.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—A man's "prime" as far as physical strength is concerned lasts about 20 years, the U. S. Public Health Service has decided.

Men of 50 in normal health are as strong, on the average, as they were at 30, according to tests reported in the Public Health Bulletin. A man's physical powers reach their maximum at the age of 30 and remain fairly constant until 50, when they begin to decrease.

Strength was measured by tests of push, pull, lift, grip and lung force. Lung fatigue, measured by the amount of time a column of mercury could be held at a certain height with one breath, was found to vary little between the ages of 15 and 50.

The human body seems to be better equipped for pushing than pulling, the tests reveal. Pushing strength starts at about 60 pounds for 15-year-old boys and rises steadily until the age of 30. Pushing strength begins at 70 pounds at age 15 and increases in the same ratio.

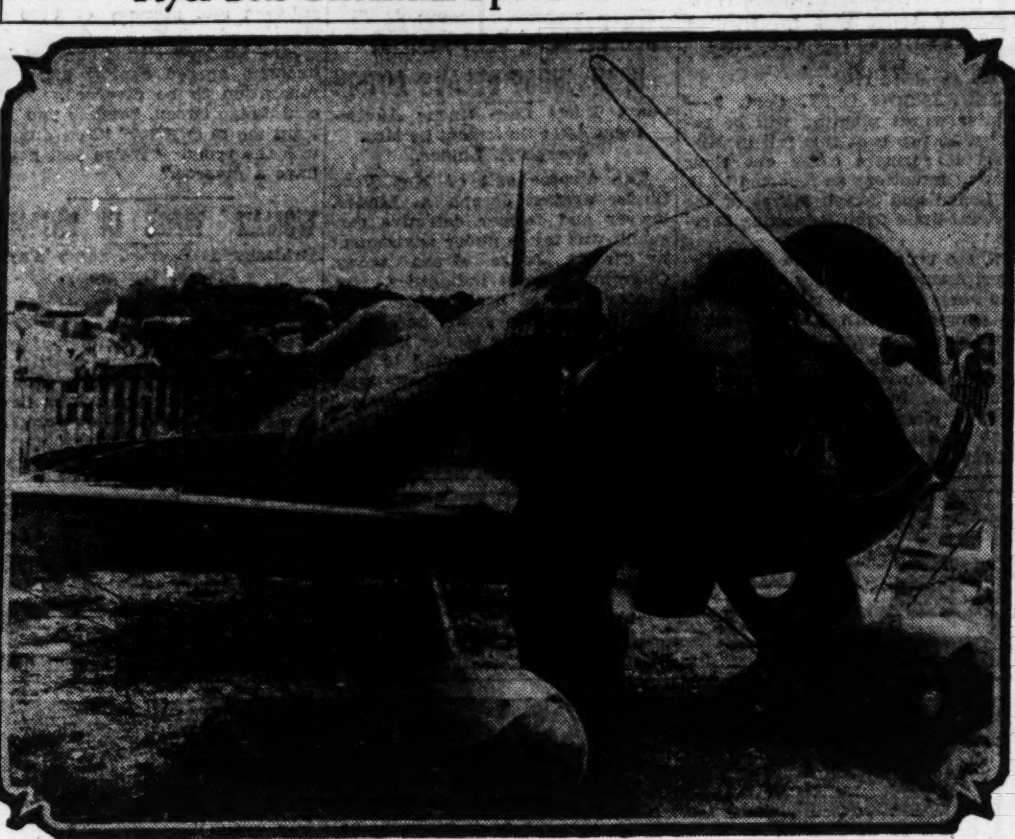

The Public Health tests also reveal that the heaviest man is not necessarily the strongest and most enduring.

The ideal weight for strength and endurance, the tests indicate, is between 160 and 170 pounds. For each 10-pound increase in weight there is a corresponding increase in strength until the 160-165 pound class is reached, after which weight and strength becomes erratic.

That strength decreases with height in each weight group was another discovery.

AMERICAN SAYS CUBAN REBELS SHANGHAIED HIM

Declares He Was Forced to Give Them Medical Treatment;

Prisoner of War.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Sept. 3.—Gus O. Balling, an American citizen and a resident of New York, who is held here as a prisoner of war, yesterday told William Schoenrich, United States Consul, that they were going to Havana. Later he learned that the ship was bound for Gibara which the rebels planned to seize. Balling did not know

York on that day, he said, and asked him to go aboard a ship 30 miles out to give medical attention to a sailor whose leg was broken. He agreed, but once aboard the ship, which he identified as the Iale Vomer, he was forcibly detained while it steamed south.

Two of the men aboard, whom he identified as Sergio Carbo, editor of a Havana magazine, and Emilio Laurent, told him they needed a surgeon and that they were going to Havana. Later he learned that the ship was bound for Gibara which the rebels planned to seize. Balling did not know there were guns aboard, he said, until they got to Gibara on Aug. 22 and there began the battle in which the Federal forces defeated the rebels.

While he remained in the rebel camp and until he was captured with other prisoners he attended the wounded at Gibara, he said.

Four Held in Handbook Raids.

Four men were arrested by detectives yesterday in raids on handbook establishments at 710 North Eighth street, 1031 North Broadway and 906 North Ninth street. Those arrested were booked for police court on vagrancy charges.

NEW LOWS FOR BEAR MARKET ON INCREASED STOCK TRADE

Sharpest Selling Flurry in Weeks Follows Severe Decline in Berlin Boerse Upon Resumption of Trading and Break in J. I. Case on Dividend Suspension.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The sharpest selling flurry in weeks since the market broke to new lows for the bear market today, including U. S. Steel and leading railroads.

The severe decline in Berlin on resumption of trading in the Boerse and a wide-open break in J. I. Case, on suspension of common dividends, combined to send the market in a pronounced slump. Several recent pool favorites slumped as support was withdrawn. There was some slight recovery in the last few minutes.

The day's turnover was only about 2,000,000 shares, but it was the largest since mid-July. Losses were numerous, and there were several wide-open breaks. Motors were sold in large volume. Chrysler lost about 2 points and General Motors 1 1/2.

Issues of 2 to 3 points or more included U. S. Steel, American Can, du Pont, Eastman, Bethlehem, Woolworth, Consolidated Gas, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, and others. In the rails, losses of 1 point or more appeared in such issues as New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, North Haven and Union Pacific.

Case broke about 10 points, 1925 peak of 115, following a soft spot, losing 7, Alaska Juneau was bid up more than a point, against the general trend. United States Steel common slumped to about nine years, dropping below 73 for the first time since 1922, when it touched 82.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to ease, prices of 10 reflecting month-end settlements, but sterling cables held steady at $4.84 1/2. The Canadian dollar got down to 32 1/2 cents.

Drop of 20 Per Cent at Berlin.
The sweeping decline in Berlin stocks, ranging in the main from 20 to 30 per cent, was much wider than the decline in world markets generally in the seven weeks' period that the net decline had been closed. The net decline in New York market for that period is less than 10 per cent. There has been no considerable hangover of unsettledness abroad, despite corrective measures already taken in Germany and Great Britain. There has been evident in recent weeks a trend in Swiss and Swedish markets. An optimistic statement was made by Secretary Stimson, on particularly regarding the conciliatory spirit manifested in international negotiations.

In contrast to the slump in the New York market, the London market closed with a confident tone, new Government was developing means of new taxation which would not be severely unsettling. Sterling exchange continued stabilized at or a little above $4.85 on cable transfers. It is understood in bank circles that a little of the American portion of the recent $400,000,000 loan has been used, but this was expected. The weekly statement of the Bank of England showed its ratio of reserves to liabilities slightly lower at 44 1/2 per cent, as reduced to 46 1/2 last week. This reflected a primary increase in circulation, resulting to most month-end settlements. Gold holdings actually increased about $1,000,000.

The text is partially cut off at the top and bottom. The table has two columns and multiple rows of data, including percentages and numbers. Below the table is a large, empty rectangular box with a double-line border. At the bottom of the page, there is more text, including the word 'ME' and 'TION', and a date 'ED 1893'.

VOLUNTEERS CANNING FOOD FOR THE NEEDY

About 16,000 Quarts Preserved and Stored at Welcome Inn.

About 16,000 quarts of fruits and vegetables, preserved by volunteer workers at Welcome Inn, the relief station under the Free Bridge, have been stored for use this winter. Mrs. Nat Brown, chairman of the committee in charge, announced.

Materials and equipment were donated, except that new tops and rubber rings were purchased for glass jars. The cost of these, a little more than 1 cent for each jar, has been one of the large items of expense and donations will be welcomed, Mrs. Brown says.

The foods preserved include peaches, apples, cantaloupes, beets, carrots and pickles.

Workers at the cannery are fed at noon and receive three jars of whatever is preserved on the day they are employed. The cannery has been in operation for a month, and Mrs. Brown estimates, has preserved about 25,000 quarts of food.

East St. Louis Community Fund has been operating a cannery on the same plan since Aug. 25, in the basement of the old Public Library there. J. L. Van Ness, director, said workers there had preserved about 7000 quarts of peaches, apples and pears.

FURNITURE FREIGHT RATE RISE

Railroads Allowed, However, to Fix Lower Figures If Desired.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized railroads throughout the country to put into effect a general upward revision of freight rates on furniture. The decision, made under the Hoch-Smith resolution, provided that furniture in territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac and Ohio Rivers shall be shipped as second class freight and third class for the rest of the country.

Commission officials said Eastern class rates were so much lower than class rates in other sections that second class rates approximated third class in the rest of the country. The decision fixed only maximum rates. It was explained that the commission purposely refrained from making the rates obligatory in order that the carriers might fix lower rates if necessary to meet truck and other competition.

announcing they were fighting only the "lawless element" but orn officials elected to do their y." Circuit Judges Louis Berner and Henry G. Miller went Edwardsville this afternoon to ke a new move in the long racing track of the Madison nel Club.

the two Judges are seeking a ans of nullifying the action of r associate, Judge Jesse R.
wn of Alton, in discharging C.
Ellison of Alton, as Special secutor the day after they appointed him to close the dog track.
Judge Brown's order, granting yesterday upon petition of Assistant State's Attorney Welch, shortly after Judge Miller dared the petition had "no it" and would be heard in his st.

fter a forenoon conference at leville with Ellison and his assants, Henry B. Eaton of Ed-dsville, and Harry F. Faulkner Granite City, the two Judges out-d their position as follows:
We are just getting started in dog track matter and are ing the motors warmed. There be nothing wrong with the chanism. We are going slowly we are going to get some-e. ighting Officials, Judge Says.

We are not only compelled to at the lawless element but also orn officials who were elected to their duty."

Judge Bernreuter added that for first time in his 22 years on bench it has become necessary him to fight to get public offi-s to do their duty.

a the meantime, activities at dog track continue in full r, unhampered by the wrangle the three jurists of the Third el Circuit of Illinois and undered by a series of injunctions, inter injunctions, motions and aces were run as usual last at for the second consecutive since Judges Bernreuter and er issued an injunction Wednes-intended to halt operations at ed immediately. Deputy riffs served writs on four minor loyes that night, but last night deputies appeared, although riffs Fitzgerald had been indered by Ellison a few hours er to serve 32 writs against amed employees at the track.

Club Officers Absent.
The order removing Ellison was ed between the time the as were given by him to the riffs and the beginning of the
as. About 12,000 persons were the track, 2000 more than the at before. No officers of the nel club appeared.
rior to the conference at Belleville Judge Miller indicated he ld suggest Ellison be re-apnted Special Prosecutor.
So far as I'm concerned, Elli-still is Special Prosecutor," re Miller said, "although the nishing action of Judge Brown supported by the circumstance has equal jurisdiction with us in el circuit. But it is contrary to precedent for one Judge to attempt to remove the appointees of two associates.
Brown's Action "Headstrong."
It may not be illegal but it's ainly a mighty thoughtless and destructive action."
Judge Brown afforded his associates their initial surprise last aturday when he issued a temporary injunction restraining State's Attorney Bohm and Sheriff Fitzgerald from interfering with operations of the track near Collinsville.
Protected by this order, races were resumed at the track Monday nt. for the first time since it ed, Aug. 5, last, upon the un-ected return of Judge Bern-reuter from a Colorado vacation he announcement he had e back to see the gambling e of Madison County were not aled. Judge Brown indicated would hold a hearing on the order.
